The New-York Times.

VOL. VII....NO. 1905. NEW-YORK, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1857. PRICE TWO CENTS.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE
By Telegraph to the New-York Times.

Magnetic Telegraph Co.'s Office—No. 48 Wall-st., and 121 Broadway

From Salt Lake City.

HOSTILE DECLARATIONS AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT.

ST. LOUIS, Monday, Oct. 26.

The Republican publishes a discourse delivered by HEBER C. KEMBALL, of Salt Lake City, Aug. 30, in which strong grounds are taken against the United States Government, and a determination is expressed to resist their troops to the last extremity. The Mormon "Children" are called upon to arm themselves, and people generally are exhorted to lay up grain and otherwise prepare for the conflict. During the discourse, KEMBALL says: "We are the kingdom of God and the State of Deseret, and will have BRIGHAM YOUNG for Governor just so long as he lives."

YOUNG made a speech equally bold in its declarations of hostility against the United States.

Robbery in New-Haven, Conn.

NEW-HAVEN, Monday, Oct. 26.

Capt. GEORGE S. HIBB, at 4 o'clock this morning, while on his way to his schooner, the Isabella Dare, bound for Albany, had a bag thrown over his head by two men, who then robbed him of $1,220. Of this sum there were five $100 bills of the Blackstone Bank, R. I.; two $100 bills of the Quinnipiac Bank, and one $100 bill of the Mechanics' Bank of New-Haven. The robbers are yet undiscovered.

Effects of the Gale.

LOSS OF THE SCHR. CHRISTIANA.

OSWEGO, October 26.

The wind has been blowing a heavy gale here all day. The schr. Christiana, from Canada, with Barley, was driven on shore, and is a total wreck. Her crew were saved.

THE BRIG GEN. WORTH ASHORE.

CLEVELAND, (O.,) Monday, Oct. 26.

The brig Gen. Worth, with a cargo of iron ore from Superior, went ashore west of the piers last night, and is badly damaged. She is insured.

The Case of James O. Brayman.

CHICAGO, Monday, Oct. 26.

JAMES O. BRAYMAN appeared before the U. S. Court and plead guilty to the indictment charging him with purloining letters from the Post-Office. His sentence was deferred.

Destructive Fire at Fort Stanley, C. W.

FORT STANLEY, C. W., Monday, Oct. 26.

A fire, this morning, destroyed the steamer Free Trader, the schooner Buckeye, the warehouses of ROUTH & DAVIDSON and WILLIAMS & THOMPSON, and many other buildings. Loss very heavy. Mostly insured.

The Schooner Ann Gardner.

NORFOLK, Monday, Oct. 26.

The schooner Ann Gardner, from Kingston, bound to New-York, has arrived here leaking badly and with loss of sails.

Upsetting of a Canoe and Loss of Life.

MONTREAL, October 26.

A canoe containing twelve persons, upset above the city last evening. Seven lives were lost.

Weather at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, Oct. 26.

We have had a severe rain-storm here all day, but about 10 P. M. it began to clear up and the stars came out.

The Manufacture of Bread.

The importance of having clean, wholesome and healthy bread, produced with economy and dispatch, cannot be overrated, and as our attention has lately been called to the apparatus of M. ROLLAND, which is now used extensively in France, and also throughout the continent of Europe, and to a limited extent in this City, we have deemed it pertinent to present the features of its claimed superiority. In the first place, by ROLLAND'S process, the dough is prepared in a mechanical kneading trough, which consists of a hollow wooden cylinder, lined with plates of tinned iron, or made entirely of plate and cast iron, with a horizontal axis resting on each of the ends, or lateral faces, and armed with two rows of curved blades, alternately long and short. These blades, perpendicular or oblique to the axis, form two racks, or frames of open work, curved in opposite directions and regularly arranged in counterpart. The whole is put in motion by a fly-wheel and crank, which can be turned by a man without difficulty. This trough answers as well for the preparation of the raising as for the making of the dough. Its operation is as prompt as it is effectual. In fifteen minutes it transforms more than a barrel of flour into a dough perfectly uniform and light, free from lumps and dry pellets of flour, which hand-kneading will never do. As all parts of the dough are worked at the same time, the whole mass of flour necessarily becomes promptly and accurately mingled with the water. Evaporation is thus prevented, and not the smallest particle of flour can be lost. But the advantages of this system are not only in the saving of labor and material, or in the superior manner in which the work is performed, but also in the cleanliness of the bread; as it is free from all the impurities of the hand, or more shameful practice of foot-kneading—as perspiration, saliva, etc. And as the dough is perfectly and uniformly kneaded, it is always the same in quality.

A hot-air oven, with a revolving floor, is the remaining feature of the Rolland apparatus, which is arranged as follows: it is of a circular form, and heated by means of an independent furnace, which thus admits of any combustible material being used. From this furnace the smoke circulates around the inclosure reserved for the baking of the bread, by means of cast-iron tubes in the lower part, vertical flues laid in the thickness of the walls, and a double metallic ceiling, which supersedes the top, or upper part, of the old ovens. The bottom part is moved horizontally and vertically, and constitutes a revolving platform of iron-work, covered with a layer of baked clay. A handle, or winch, very easily transmits to the pivots of this floor the movement of rotation, and brings successively to the mouth of the oven, within sight of the eye and reach of the hand, the place which each loaf should occupy. The distribution of the heat is perfect; a thermometer measures its intensity, and indicates, in an invariable manner, the moment at which the bread ought to be put into the oven. A gas-burner or a lamp, placed in one of its sides, throws its rays constantly into the interior of the oven. The baking is perfect, regular and continuous; every loaf is exposed at the same time to the heat of the oven, and there being no embers or ashes for the crust to come in contact with, it is always strictly clean. In comparison with the common system of baking, the advantages of the Rolland Oven is, in a discontinuance of the drying of wood before heating; the means of making use of every kind of combustible material; spontaneous collection of the living embers, doing away with the fatigue of drawing them out, while the excessive heat endangers the health of the workmen; wonderful economy in the expense of heating; suppression of many risks of fire; discontinuance of the laborious cleanings of the floor of the oven at every operation; an easier plan of putting in and drawing the bread out of the oven; shorter and more manageable implements, and a more suitable system of lighting; a baking which is regular, capable of being prolonged, and very easy to manage; the production of loaves free from all traces of ashes, coal or fuzzage—in a word, a very good quality, with a fine appearance and perfect cleanliness; heating of the water necessary for the preparation of the dough by means of heat which, by the old plan, is lost; lastly, a wonderful saving of labor, most readily appreciable in large concerns.

Although in very general use in France, and to a certain extent in England, Austria, Venetia, Gruetia, Istria, Dalmatia, Bohemia, Hungary, Lombardy, Belgium, Prussia, Sardinia, Switzerland, Turkey, Africa, Egypt, the Brazils, etc., yet from circumstances the apparatus of M. ROLLAND has not been extensively introduced in the United States. However, the patents having been assigned into the hands of most responsible parties, who will present the subject in its proper light, there can be no reasonable doubt of its very extensive adoption. In fact, practical bakers, who will give this kneader and oven a careful inspection, will be readily convinced of their superiority over any other means for the perfect and economical production of bread. The machinery and process have been examined by many scientific bodies and Boards of Government officers, and in every instance have received the highest approbation. The Academy of Sciences, of the Institute of France, appointed a special commission who practically tested these inventions of M. ROLLAND. The decision was most elaborate in their favor, and the result was that at the exhibition of the Society for the Encouragement of National Industry, at its general meeting on the 11th of August, 1852, was awarded M. ROLLAND a Platina Medal.

The resident owners of M. ROLLAND'S patents for the United States are A. BERNARD, Esq., civil engineer, No. 51 Dey-street, and ELIAS FOWLER, Esq., merchant, No. 67 Water-street. Either of these gentlemen will exhibit and give detailed descriptions of the apparatus and the process pursued. The kneader and oven are also on exhibition at the Fair of the American Institute in the Crystal Palace, Q.

Oh, the Weather!

If the political season was never, as people say, known to be so dull as in the present Fall campaign,—if, in other words, the panic has killed politics,—we can readily believe that for the last three days the weather has garroted the panic. It may recover again—it undoubtedly will; but it has suffered a severe encounter, and got the worst of it. As is said of young children, when a new baby is born, its "nose has been put out of joint." The main topic yesterday, as far as our observation has extended,—(and we dispatched a crowd of reporters to the business part of the City, to pick up facts and draw conclusions,)—was not the scarcity of money, but the lack of umbrellas.

It began to rain early on Saturday night, and at this present writing, midnight on Monday, there has been no cessation. People interested in suspension of specie, are now praying for suspension of rain. What with the panic and the weather together, our country readers may imagine, if they can, the countenances of their town cousins, and the deserted condition of the streets. Ladies cannot even get abroad to assist a tradesman in ruining himself and family by selling goods fifty per cent. below cost price. The gutters are converted into conduits. The narrow streets in the lower part of the town are become canals, from which those of us who have not traveled may get some idea of Venice. Actually, for three days we have now been enduring some of the most exceptional weather we have ever had to afflict us, though taken as a panacea for the panic,—as a subject of conversation and complaint, affording relief to the monotonous grumbling about "Hard Times," it is quite refreshing and beneficial.

AMUSEMENTS.

LAURA KEENE'S THEATRE.—A play of remarkable denseness, and unusual specific gravity was produced here last night. It is called "Birds of Prey," and comes from the pen of M. WRAY, who, according to the play-bill, is "a young dramatic author of great promise,"—fortunately, for us, located in London. We do not usually find fault with the judgment of Miss KEENE; her selection of pieces is excellent, more particularly so, when we consider the number which she produces at her handsome little house. But in the present instance we do most positively object to the humiliation of her artists; want only to humiliated in the production of a piece wherein they cannot by any possibility appear to advantage.

We presume that "Birds of Prey" is Mr. WRAY'S first work. It bears evidence of intense elaboration, but it is the elaboration of dullness; the laborious effort to strike fire out of lead. We suspect, too, that the play has been cut down extensively, and imagine that in its original form it must have been at least twelve acts long. It would take that, we should fancy, to satisfy the author's sense of proportion, judging by the skeleton preserved by Miss KEENE, which is as remarkable for its natural cavities as for its unnatural dryness.

We have no desire to speak critically of a work which is beneath criticism. It is sufficient to say that "Birds of Prey" is intended to be an intense drama of the ultra French school; that it is crowded with inconsistencies; that it is constructed on no known principles of dramatic progression; that its characterizations are utterly absurd; and finally, that as a whole it is the most cheerless mass of boyish inconsistency and twaddle that has ever been put on this stage. The plot is so incomprehensible that an audience of Philadelphia lawyers would fail to make anything of it. We presume that the manuscript has some merit not perceptible from the footlights. How otherwise can we account for its production by Miss KEENE?

It is not necessary to speak of the acting, except that it saved the second act, and was as good as could be expected under the circumstances.

The Cartmen and the Times.

If it were possible for any one to doubt the hardness of the times, and the almost general suspension of business, the skeptic, whoever he might be, would only have to take a survey of the business portion of the City south of Wall-street. He might fancy at first that the Mayor had enforced the City ordinance against encumbering the sidewalks, for nowhere in such streets as Broad, Beaver, Pearl, Exchange-place, or any thoroughfare in that locality, will he be in danger of striking his shins against huge pine boxes, or tumbling headforemost over bales of goods. Nor, if he is in a hurry, will his patience be put to proof by having to wait while a cart backed up to the door of a warehouse, delivers its load. He may adopt almost any rate of speed he chooses with little danger of being brought to a halt. But while such is the case with the sidewalk, it is altogether otherwise with the road. There idle carts are congregated like rowdies round a Sixth Ward groggery door. Our Reporter on the last fair day counted thirty-six of them in Broad-street, in the block between Wall-street and Exchange-place, while in the same space there were but four carts having goods upon them. Between Exchange-place and Beaver-street business was a little more brisk, inasmuch as there were only eighteen unemployed carts, and as many as seven engaged in delivering or removing goods. From Broad, at the corner of Stone-street, a brisk business seemed going on in the flour trade, no less than nine carts being engaged in removing flour and grain from the stores of VAN SICKEL & Co. and LANE & MANGAN'S. In Beaver-street there were thirty-seven carts unemployed, and only five employed, while in Pearl-street the number of unemployed carts was so great that our Reporter missed an accurate computation.

The drivers of these carts uniformly state that never within their recollection have the times at this season of the year, when a brisk Fall business ought to be going on, been so dull. Usually in this month the difficulty is for merchants to find carts. Now, the cartmen can scarcely find at any hour of the day a single merchant that requires his services. The outlook in the coming Winter, for this class of useful and hard-working men, is very drear indeed.

Progress of Business Elsewhere—Charitable Movements.

The Massachusetts Corporation run their works four days in the week, and have stock in hand to last till January. The Boston Traveller contradicts the report that the Directors have voted to stop.

The Salisbury Manufacturing Company have reduced the pay of operatives 15 per cent.

Conger's paper mill at Bloomfield, N. J., has resumed operations, and the pasteboard and catsum factory of WHELEN & Co., in the same town, is also about to resume.

The Essex paper mills, which recently discharged some hands, and reduced the wages of others, will shortly resume full work and full pay.

The Norfolk Argus says: "We have been pained to chronicle two heavy discharges of workmen from the Gosport Navy-Yard within a week, and we fear, without aid from the Government in the shape of an immediate order for the building of the steam sloop which the Department has determined to have built here, there will be more to follow.

The Philadelphia Ledger intimates that a number of employers, in that city, who discharged their hands in a panic, are recovering from their fright, and are beginning to ask whether they are not likely to be losers by their stoppage of work. They prove not to have been so badly hurt as they thought. There is a prospect of speedy resumption in several quarters.

The Germans of Philadelphia held a mass meeting on Sunday in reference to the times. The call for the meeting was inflammatory, but the proceedings were peaceable. A Committee of twenty-five was appointed to concert further measures, and another meeting is to be held on Friday.

A Philadelphia baker, benevolently disposed, announces that he will distribute to the poor 500 loaves of bread every Wednesday and Saturday during the Winter.

It is announced in St. John, N. B., that in future the Government of that Province will draw specie from England instead of bills. The coffers of all the banks have likewise been stilly replenished to meet any demand that might be likely to be made upon them. There is more specie now in the city than there has been for many years.

A sewing machine establishment in Philadelphia proffers to the benevolent Society of the city the free use of its rooms and machinery until the first of February, to make up clothing for the poor.

Young Men's Christian Association.

The monthly meeting of this Association was held on Monday evening at the Chapel of the University. Mr. CYRUS BRAINARD was called to the Chair, and Mr. EUGENE THOMPSON was elected Secretary. After the usual introductory exercises new members were proposed. The Corresponding Secretary stated that a meeting of 600 had been held in Lawrence, Mass., and addressed by the Mayor. Reports from Belfast, Ireland, were made that an encouraging work was going on in that city and its vicinity. EDWARD CORNEY, Esq., a Vice-President of the London association, had arrived on a visit to the Christian Association of this country. Dr. CASSOY, from the American Sunday School Union, made a report in relation to the Madiai family at Florence, and the Protestant families in France; he also presented the plan of a new chapel, to be built in Paris. He advised that there should be unity among all Protestants abroad, of every denomination, using the Episcopal service and the dissenting service alternately. This was now done in some cases, and with favorable results. The following resolution was passed:

"That there be a Committee of five to confer with the American and Foreign Christian Union, respecting the proposed action of that Society in the purchase of chapels for the use of Protestants in Paris."

Rev. THEODORE L. CUYLER, lately returned from Europe, whither he went as a delegate of the Association, addressed the meeting. He described his visits to the London Bible Classes, Christian Associations, Ragged Schools and Sabbath Schools of London, where he saw some things which he wished adopted among the Christian young men of this City. He particularly eulogized the social manner in which John Bull mingles his tea and toast with his religion as well as his business, on which he has grown stout. He also wished to see a system of lectures adopted here akin to the Annual Exeter Hall Lectures, in which the first men in church and state took an active part. If the young men of our City were to be saved from Negro bufoonery and the lures of the Theatre, the doors of library and lecture rooms must be thrown wide open.

Notwithstanding the moist nature of the weather, there was a full and deeply interested meeting.

The Synod of Virginia on Slavery.

We have previously noticed the resolution of the Virginia Synod to withdraw from further connection with the General Assembly of the New-School Presbyterian Church. The Synod subsequently resolved to coöperate in the organization of the "United Synod," to meet at Knoxville in April next. Among the prominent debaters was Rev. Dr. BURR, who has occupied a leading position throughout this controversy.

Action was also taken on the affairs of the American Tract Society. The Synod was addressed by Rev. JONATHAN CROSS, General Agent of the Society for the State of Maryland, and, after he had been awarded a hearing, the following resolution was adopted:

That since the recent action of the Executive Committee of the American Tract Society, to adhere strictly to the letter and spirit of the constitution of said Society, we recommend the objects and agents of the Society to the continued confidence of the Churches.

The final determination of the Synod in reference to secession is in the form of a declaration, bearing the following signatures: J. N. Danforth, J. D. Mitchell, O. Treadwell, A. H. H. Boyd, J. R. Grattan, and William Herring.

Should the Knoxville meeting resolve upon a separate organization, there will then be five divisions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States—the Old and New Schools, and the Richmond, Missouri and Knoxville splits. The latest splits are all from the New School body—the Old School, from which the New itself was separated twenty years ago, having since that time refused to entertain the question of Slavery at the meetings of the General Assembly. The next convocation of the New School Assembly will probably show a considerable diminution in numbers.

Captain Parmalee, of the Middlesex.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I find, in the TIMES of this morning, that Mr. JAMES REA avows himself the author of the charge of cruelty made in a previous communication against Captain PARMALEE, of the ship Middlesex, during her voyage from Liverpool in February last.

As Capt. P. sailed for Liverpool a week ago, he cannot reply to Mr. REA'S letter, in which these charges are repeated. I desire, therefore, merely to call the attention of the public to the fact that he has already given them an explicit denial, in a letter published under his own signature, in the TIMES of the 19th inst.; and no one who knows him will believe him capable, either of making false statements or of cruelty to any human being. As Capt. P. acknowledged in his card, there was severe punishment inflicted upon the sailors of the Middlesex,—but no more than was absolutely necessary to compel them to do work without which the hundreds of her passengers, Mr. JAMES REA included, must inevitably have gone to the bottom. Mr. R. speaks lightly of the perils of the voyage, and the damage to the ship, now, when he is safe ashore, through the efforts of the very man whom he defames and slanders:—but he did not think so then.

What private wrongs Mr. REA may fancy he has sustained at Capt. P.'s hands I do not know. The question is narrowed down to one of veracity between the two,—and there I am quite willing to leave it, as will be also every

FRIEND OF CAPT. PARMALEE.

The Nicaraguan Minister.

NEW-YORK, Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I find in your paper a communication over the signature of "Carlos," a pretended Nicaraguan, disputing that Mr. IRISARRI, Minister from Guatemala and Salvador, and also appointed representative of Nicaragua, has been paid, as well as General JUAN to Mr. WALKER. Turn the wheel, and the pale will be Mr. Black, and Brown, and Red,—does any name is good for a purchaser,—good as that of "Carlos," Nicaraguaized by the wand of the Gentleman WALKER.

With laudable pleasure this Poor "Carlos" perceives that the Government of the United States will not recognize the actual Government of Nicaragua, and in this, he is a Walkerite indeed, since among them there is no other Government for Nicaragua than that of WALKER.

But "Carlos" developes new ideas in Democracy. He would have foreign Ministers appointed by the people; hence, in his view, from the time of FRANKLIN to that of SOULE, no United States Minister has been legally appointed. He insists, also, that the embassadors of a Republic should have been upon its soil; and in accordance with this grandiose notion, GADSDEN, SOULE, BUCHANAN, SLIDELL, and others who, like them, were not born in the United States, had any right to the positions which they have held. Nor should Mexico have been represented by HARGOUS, Costa Rica by the two HOLLINGSWORTHS, nor Chile and Salvador by IRISARRI, who, I hear, has ceased to represent only Guatemala. This idea of "Carlos" may be good, politic and congressional, but it is not Nicaraguan.

Political Intelligence.

There was a meeting of Democrats of the Ninth Senatorial District at [illegible] last evening, at which [illegible] Rooms, last evening, [illegible] Mr. [illegible] Secretary. Speeches were made by Messrs. [illegible] McKeever, T. F. Meagher, Hiram [illegible] Mike and others.

PENNSYLVANIA—OFFICIAL.—The following is the official vote of Pennsylvania at the late election:

Governor—Wilmot, Rep., [illegible]; [illegible] 160,086; Bartlett, Am., [illegible]; [illegible] 1,000; Pollock, [illegible] 18,444.

Canal Commissioner—Hilliard, Rep., [illegible]; [illegible] Dem., 188,212; Lumbard, [illegible]; Brickhead's majority over all, 16,[illegible].

The Whig Assembly Convention of the Third District met on Thursday evening, (Hon. E. Rumsey, Esq., in the Chair, and Y. Oakley, Secretary.) On motion, JAMES S. SEYMOUR was nominated for Assembly.

Hon. Addison Gardiner is the Democratic candidate for State Senator in the Monroe County District.

A. B. WILLIAMS is the Republican candidate for the State Senate in the Wayne County District.

Ex-Governor THROOP has been nominated for the Assembly by the Democrats in Cayuga County.

Fires.

FIRE IN JAMES-STREET.—TWENTY HORSES BURNED.—About 2 o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the rear of No. 20 James-street, in a row of frame stables, owned by Isaac Carman, and occupied by several carmen. When the firemen arrived at the place there was such a dense cloud in the alley-way leading to the stables that they were unable to effect an entrance, and the building was accordingly entirely destroyed. Twelve horses in the stables were burned to death. The upper part of the stables was occupied by Wm. Brandreth, as a carpenter's shop. His loss was about $600, on which there was no insurance. The loss on the stables and horses $1,600. Insured for $800. The names of the owners of the horses, and their value, are as follows: Thomas O'Brien, one horse, $120; Thomas Gallagher, one horse, $120; James Lee, one horse, $120; [illegible], one horse, $150; Pat. Ryan, one horse, $150; [illegible] Lone, one horse, $150; Michael Boatley, one horse, $150; Thomas Lodd, one horse, $100; [illegible], one horse, $60; Wm. Carter, one horse, $[illegible]; unknown, one horse, $100. Total, $[illegible].

None of the carmen were insured, and the loss falls heavily on them, as they depended on the horses for a means of livelihood. The origin of the fire is unknown, but is suspected to be the work of an incendiary. Mr. BAKER, Fire Marshal, will make an investigation of the case to-day.

Trucking of the Utah Expedition.

From the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

The following extract from a letter from an officer in the army will be read with interest:

FORT LEAVENWORTH, N. T., Sunday, Oct. 4, 1857.

The Commandant for the Department of Utah passed here Thursday a week since, with his gentlemen indeed, Col. A. S. Johnston, of the Cavalry Regiment, now in Texas. He came to Utah in seven days from Leavenworth, and expected to find the grass so much better than he had heard that he confidently looked forward to all of his stock ordered out to pass safely through the winter into the valley before the snows came. I have since passed by, we have received news from the front, the report express from above Fort Laramie, the purport of which is that there is no present all forage for the last named place and Green River, a distance of [illegible] hundred miles. The contractors for hauling the Commissary and Quartermaster's supplies (Messrs. Russell and Waddell) are losing [illegible] of their cattle, and the trains accompanying the different commands that have gone by Fort Laramie could make only twelve miles a day. We hear that the six companies ordered out as an escort to the Governor and settle to-morrow. They cannot make over eighteen miles a day, and will be about [illegible] making the trip. I do not believe that they can get their horses through at all this Winter, and perhaps a great many of the men will perish for the want of protection. I know that the Mormons will be out of snow by the middle of this month in the passes through which they have to go.

The Buffalo Hurricane.

From the Commercial Advertiser, Oct. 26.

About 2 o'clock P. M. [illegible] known hurricane, for it was not after [illegible] there came a shock [illegible] which, perhaps, more than any other, [illegible] Those walking on the street of [illegible] stunning stuff fell up in the [illegible] and broken [illegible] and a noise. Put in buildings there were a [illegible] Those on the ground floor felt the jar and [illegible] the walls, and [illegible] tables, China rattling in [illegible] one instance,) falling, while in another [illegible] chimney parted with a few of its topmost bricks. The further up from the ground the greater [illegible] fourth and fifth stories there was a [illegible] of brick walls, and tools rolled from [illegible] workmen to the floor. The [illegible] per to the street, and for a moment [illegible] questions about what boiler of steam had broken loose, what iron of a vessel [illegible] buildings, what fire-proof safe had fallen, what [illegible] had burst, or what powder-magazine [illegible] But the hurricane [illegible] letters from the hand all [illegible] placed the things and all [illegible] clusion—we had had an earthquake.

More Murders.

A man named John Poe, living near Bullock's Creek, S. C., in a fit of anger, shot his horse and some cattle and hogs, and on Sunday set fire to his house, which had been [illegible] the motherless children, aged from 5 to 14 years of age, are supposed to have perished in the flames. A proper warrant was issued against him by a magistrate, and two officers went to serve it; but he [illegible] in one of his barns, and swearing to shoot any man who should attempt to approach him. Finally he was captured by strategem.

Mr. Lewis Bishop, an old citizen of Talladega, Ala., recently shot and killed Mr. J. G. Maxwell, a man who resided on his farm, and had been [illegible] with him during the present year. Mr. Bishop states that the shooting was accidental, and immediately delivered himself up to the authorities.

At Old Camp Colorado, Brown County, Texas, on the 21st ult., a difficulty occurred between two brothers named WAYNE, on the one part, and a man and son on the other. Firearms were used, and GEORGE WAYNE and the younger HOLLAND were killed on the spot. JOHN WAYNE was mortally wounded, and died a week afterwards.

A Mr. GURRIS recently shot a Mr. CHAMBERS near Fort Mason, Texas, with a double-barreled shotgun, for accusing him of larceny. Gurris died a few hours afterwards.

Destructive Fire at the Cribs [illegible].

The Columbus Sentinel of the 24th says: About [illegible] o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the north range of cribs on the Cow Island [illegible] and had made such progress before it was discovered that it was [illegible] range was in ruins. The other [illegible] Hayden's blacksmith shop, Hall, Bryan & Co.'s cooper shop, the State Office and Keller's office. Dave's wagon yard [illegible] stored. It is further [illegible] of some consequence. Where one [illegible] the greater part of the first two [illegible] the whole length of the south [illegible] Green lane to a distance [illegible] What loss of the State will be, we have not heard [illegible] stated."

DEATH OF A VETERAN.—General Gaines held his funeral, yesterday, at the First Ward Station-house, on the body of THOMAS BURNHAM, a veteran who died suddenly on Sunday night. He was found in West-street, and taken to the Station-house. His age has been known for several years to be [illegible]. Death was supposed to have been caused by disease of the heart, and a verdict was rendered to that effect. The body will be sent to-day to Rutland, Vt., for interment.

THE CAUSES OF THE PANIC.

[illegible] and Instructive Letter from [illegible]

[illegible], Thursday, Oct. 22, 1857.

MY DEAR SIR: Your favor is at hand, concerning that the various discussions on the prevailing financial epidemic have so unsettled your views as to the causes that you desire a diagnosis from some other quarter. Your pulse required for me to act as consulting physician, [illegible] must have felt who, because his master had dexterously detected a patient in eating oysters by [illegible] the shells in the bed, asserted on another occasion that the patient had eaten a horse, [illegible] reason, until he saw a sudden [illegible] patient. [illegible] suffering from a [illegible] nervous system, produced [illegible] by error. He has [illegible] much bad humor, [illegible] which is equally injurious, [illegible] himself to be [illegible] you [illegible] broken but over his body. [illegible] the present panic, superinduced and [illegible] mercantile investments [illegible] Tariff could be materially improved for the advantageous of our manufacturers [illegible] the Tariff, I [illegible] for the present crisis. [illegible] come down like the [illegible] it may sound, no [illegible] on the face of the earth have such an ultra-[illegible] as our "free [illegible] in possession of Central [illegible] Europe could not secure facilities for incol-[illegible] in England, their crisis of 1847 gave them some important ideas on the subject. But our people, in spite of everything, even in spite of my Treatise on Business (see pages 606-11b.) and in spite or [illegible] of public pity no attention whatever to [illegible] the absolute proportion between cash and liabilities, nor do they seem to realize there can be any danger in converting floating into fixed capital. Take an inventory of the nominal assets of all the traders and merchants, from the retailer up to the most wealthy on our bank sheet importers, and what proportion do you suppose the cash on hand will average to the liabilities? Less than Philippe's loaf, piece worth of bread bore to his quantity of pack. What will represent the cash? Real estate. Western wild lands, brown-stone fronts and houses—will represent part of it, and railroad liabilities will represent another part. Then, if these are mercantile securities—cash equivalents—the investment is justifiable, whether it proves profitable or not—but where was real estate or railroad liabilities ever recognized as mercantile securities?

Bank note manufacturers are not less uneasy than the rest of us when they have cash on hand, and very few of them can sleep contented until they have expended almost their last dollar in permanent additions to buildings, machinery, or some fixtures. Now paper money, whatever its effects on prices, can surely have nothing to do with this hard-money peculiarity, nor can I see how it is responsible for the fact that merchants will invest their cash assets in non-mercantile securities and do business on credit. Banks, so far from encouraging this disposition, discourage it by [illegible] their discounts on the average balance of their customers, in accordance with the Scriptural [illegible] "to him who hath much, much shall be given." Banks, it seems to me, are among the principal victims of this crisis, but they are not the primary agents of it.

Now, what is the effect of converting floating into fixed capital, and multiplying liabilities without regard to any cash assets? One result is that money is diverted from its regular channels—in fact, taken out of the money market and distributed in small sums. Another result is that a few men monopolize a certain business, and each one does, relatively and comparatively, what ten men ought to do, and would do, in a safe and moderate way. Another result is that bills receivable are the sole reliance for meeting bills payable, and upon any default in the former, the merchant relies first to the money-lenders and eventually sells. Merchandising thus amounts simply to taking goods on sale, and giving and if they are sold, and the money collected, they will be paid for. The real bona fide capital being locked up in unmarketable securities, real estate, railroads, &c., and the profits having been already bargained away by the latter, perhaps principally to men who will immediately ship the cash out of the country, the whole fabric, it is evident, hangs by a thread.

Where do you ask, did this state of things produce a panic? No, Sir, I think not. Under ordinary circumstances it would probably have only produced a pinching tight money market. With fair [illegible] the merchants would have been able to [illegible] themselves gradually of their non-mercantile securities, increase their cash reserve, curtail their credit operations and come out safer and sounder than ever. But a state of affairs was produced mentally denominated "tickish," as every one of my mercantile sagacity felt, and the imminence of danger was vastly increased when the New-York Banks expanded some twenty millions of dollars within a short time. The worst misfortune, however, was that it led to the formation of a large organized band of men who saw that by selling stocks "short," and hammering down the railroad interest they could easily precipitate a crash and thereby make fortunes for themselves. Among this gang I have no doubt there were several railroad officials who had ruined their roads to enrich themselves. At all events, to effect their end, no stone was left unturned—no scheme left untried. Predictions of impending ruin were fulminated day after day, and week after week. Hints at the solvency of the banks were not forborne, and every imaginable tactics, whether only to experienced stock gamblers, were resorted to, to encourage sellers of stocks and discourage buyers. They deserve, thanks, however, for contributing him to the City of New-York, in [illegible] the great fire of 1835. Stocks fell, [illegible] and desired, and money lenders of all kinds including banks, were compelled to call in loans made on stock collaterals. The depreciation weakened many mercantile houses that had invested in them, and hastened the failure of the Ohio Life and Trust Company. These stocks were then held up as guideboards of their confidence, and the people succumbed thoroughly [illegible] their stocks and bonds over [illegible] to their destruction like sheep [illegible] Stocks fell and became the cry. [illegible] Thus naturally prevailed [illegible] a ball once fairly set in motion, without any necessity to aid [illegible] by positive or definite, or [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] pay promptly or not. The banks, inasmuch as their strength is mainly a [illegible] weakened to the [illegible] hastened [illegible] have [illegible] Stocks [illegible] Advance) it was [illegible] to prevent a panic. Within this one division the currency and exchanges became disarranged throughout the whole country. This then was a remote effect, not an immediate cause of the crisis. May not then the panic of 1857 be called the stock-jobbers' panic? Or, in other words, the "bears" took advantage of a period of mercantile weakness to precipitate a crash, expecting thereby to realize fortunes.

So much for my views, which you have solicited, of the causes of the crisis. If they are not worth much you can console yourself by reflecting they did not cost much. The causes are really of less practical importance just at present than a remedy, but my letter is already too long. No important relief can be expected until the money which has been scattered and distributed in small sums is aggregated again in large sums constituting capital. Whatever any one can do by inducing others to pay their debts speedily, so far as they are able, and to discourage hoarding, will hasten the "good time coming," and be a service to the community. Much may be done by the Banks by pursuing a liberal, expansive course and discounting freely prime paper. But to prevent panics in future, merchants as well as bankers must as a rule never invest their floating means in non-mercantile securities, bonds and mortgages, real estate, railroad liabilities, &c., and always maintain a reasonable proportion—say 1 to 2? a la Bowery Bank—between cash assets and liabilities. This neglected or neglegitation has prevent periodical panics. Nothing, however, will be so conducive to cure the present or prevent future panics as to cultivate habitually an humble and Christian spirit, striving to obtain the favor of Him "who yokes the whirlwind to his car," yet has blessed us with a bounteous harvest, and by every indication revealed in nature, desired that the people of this country should be happy in the year 1857. Partial evil in His hands is universal good. Then, though the Winter may be bleak and chill the Spring will certainly come, and

"The flower will bless the cloud when it hath passed by."

I am, truly, your obedient servant,
EDWIN T. FREEDLEY.

To H. B. JAY, Esq.

PARIS GOSSIP.

Gambling at the German Spas—Close of the Season—Veterans of the First Empire—Illness of the King of Prussia—Reported Illness of the Emperor—Miscellaneous News.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PARIS, Monday, Oct. 12, 1857.

The so called health-seekers of the spas of Germany begin to return to town, evidently more recuperated in blood molecules than in molecules of gold. The totally bankrupt form a large majority of the homeward emigration. So long as their deposits held out, or so long as their friends supplied them with money—always to return home with—they stuck to the rouge-et-noir and trente et quarante, in hopes that each turn of the cards would bring them the long-waited-for revenge on the bank. And it is probable that if their friends had not ceased entirely to send supplies—to come home with—they would have stayed until the bankers shut the doors on them at the end of the season. No preceding year has afforded so many decasis; they all swear vengeance for the coming season, and hope, by some combination, to break the bank that won their money. But the Count de Y., who had accumulated a sum of 200,000 francs for his martingale, with the intention of breaking the Bank of Baden Baden with a final stroke, has lost all, and the bank is in ecstacies. Ems has made a million this year, Wiesbaden and Baden Baden nearly as much. The banks have had no suicides to deplore, at least within their walls, an immunity which they attribute to the extreme politeness of their company. Some one proposed to place in the various kursaals a placard bearing the words: "People are expressly prohibited from blowing their brains out in the saloons, in order not to trouble the game." But to complete this wise regulation, the kursaal ought to furnish a place where the candidate could find aid and protection in carrying out his views, as was the habit at Marseilles. Or, as at Athens, where a cup of poison hemlock was always kept in readiness for bankrupt citizens. A very considerable proportion of the "caved in" travelers of this year are journalists and members of the great literary army of Paris, a fact which implies that all the proprietors of the kursaals of the Rhine, are not so kind-hearted as M. BENAZET of Baden Baden. When a squadron of these gentlemen arrived at Baden Baden together—Messrs. VILLEMESSANT, JULES LECOMPTE, AUGUSTE VITU, EDMOND ABOUT, EUGENE GUINET, EDMOND TEXIER, &c., &c.—M. BENAZET invited all the representatives of the Press to meet him, and held to them words to the following effect: Gentlemen, you have come here, each of you, with five hundred, a thousand, two thousand francs. You are going to play, and very probably to lose, not being able to play high. Both you and I will be displeased at this result. Play, however, if you are still disposed to; and if you gain, so much the better; but if you lose, I shall give you back your money. Leave the subject to your deliberation." The speech of M. BENAZET may have had a certain effect; but I happened to see this same group of writers playing at M. BENAZET's bank, M. VILLEMESSANT, who is a lucky player, taking the lead.

The Palace of the Legion of Honor presents a curious spectacle at this moment. The specimens of maimed humanity which crowd the bureaux of the Chancellerie during the hours for the distribution of the St. Helena medal, recall vividly the terrible wars through which these veterans passed. A journal recounts the story of an old woman who presented herself a few days ago for the medal. She entered the bureau on a crutch, and to the astonishment of the crowd of old soldiers present who made way for her, demanded if her papers had been examined, and whether her right to the medal had been admitted. The Clerk replied in the affirmative, and coming forward took her arm, led her to a seat, and then announced in a loud voice "MADAME FIGEUR, née Sans-Gêne, born in 1774, at Talancy, Oeter d'Or, entered the 15th Dragoons on the 9th October, 1791, and retired under the Empire in consequence of wounds; you are entitled to the medal." At these words the old woman rose, straightened herself up, shouldered her crutch at "dress arms," and gave the military salute. The medal was attached to her breast, and she marched out of the office with the cry of "Vive L'Empereur!" What mysterious, or perhaps terrible trait of character, would have gained for this woman at the early age of seventeen, the cognomen of Sans-Gêne?

On the same day an old man who has been confined in the Lunatic Asylum of Bicêtre for more than twenty-five years, presented himself for the medal. He admits he is now 80 years old, and he was formerly a dancer at the Grand Opera. When his name was called he replied, "Here I am at your service, like one of the company present. Such as you see me I am an old artiste of the Opera. I knew [illegible] the great VESTRIS. Very likely," said the clerk, "that you must have danced in my time long ago." "Bravo sir," said the old man, without waiting for any further reply, he danced at once, and began moving about with such vigor that it was some time before the people in the office could stop his evolutions. He had served in the armies of the Republic and the Empire, and was entitled to the medal. When he retired he made the military salute, cut a pigeon wing, and disappeared out of the office.

Another old man presented, as a justification of his right to a medal, a paper which certified that he had lost his arm in one of the battles of the Empire. The attendant did not know exactly till he was told of the fact on application for his medal, that according to a law of the first Empire, an arm lost in battle secured him the station of the Legion of Honor. The medal and the decoration were conferred upon him at the same time.

ARNAL, the well-known comic actor of the Paris Royal Theatre, made two campaigns under the first Empire, and now wears the St. Helena medal.

A story is told of a man who, at the period when the medals were announced for distribution, was about to marry a young girl. The gentleman represented himself to his intended as fifty, a youthfulness to which he had brought himself by the aid of the wigmaker's and perfumer's skill, while in fact he was entitled to the St. Helena medal, having served in the armies of the Empire. Here was a dilemma! His military pride prompted him to parade his medal, and yet he dare not for fear of losing his young bride. So he made a compromise. He claimed and obtained his medal, without the knowledge of the young lady, and pinning it to his coat, determined to seek the admiration of the million on the side of town where fashionables never go, and where he had no fear of encountering the young lady in question. That would be something. So he started to the Garden of Plants, and after being sufficiently admired by the nurses and children, perhaps also by the monkeys and bears, he directed his steps towards the Place de la Bastille, the great rendezvous of the canaille. Here his success must have been great, for he grew so elated that he ventured on to the Boulevards.

He had passed the Boulevard du Crime and arrived at the Boulevard du Bonne Nouvelle, the frontier of the fashionable promenade; he was absorbed in the smiles and the admiration of the passers-by, when who should he meet but his betrothed? He was too late; Waterloo was fought in June, 1815, and as that was the last army of the Empire, and as they did not enrol boys of 7 years of age, the old gentleman, who was at least 65, had to sacrifice his marriage to his love of admiration. He now promenades proudly on the Boulevards des Italiens, with his medal conspicuously displayed.

The present dangerous illess of the King of Prussia had its origin, perhaps it would be more better to say had for proximate cause, (for the King is addicted to weaknesses of the brain,) a too-strong dose of tobacco smoke. This was administered to him by the Emperor of Russia and the Princes of the Royal family, in the cars going from Potsdam to Berlin. The Czar and the Princes, to pass the time, commenced to smoke some very strong Russian tobacco, and soon filled the car. The King was observed to fall asleep, and was allowed to remain in this condition till they arrived at Berlin. When they attempted to arouse him they found it impossible to bring him to a state of complete consciousness; his physician was sent for, he was carried to the palace, and remained still somnolent at the latest dates. He is thought to be afflicted with softening (ramollissement) of the brain.

A Belgian journal gives out mysterious hints lately about the health of the Emperor NAPOLEON, and speaks of a spinal disease. The Emperor NAPOLEON has had symptoms of spinal disease on various occasions; and may have had again recently; but they have certainly not been of an alarming character, since his Majesty was never more active than at the present time, and never looked in better health.

The same journal starts another report still more equivocal. It speaks of the young Prince JOACHIM MURAT as having been selected by France, Russia, Prussia and Sardinia as reigning Prince, or King, if you please, of the united Danubian Principalities. It is not probable that Austria, Turkey or England would consent to see a BONAPARTE on the throne of the Danube. This young Prince is, as you know, a grandson of the King of Naples. His mother, the present Princess MURAT, is an American lady, and the young Prince was born and raised in New-Jersey. If his father and mother should succeed to the throne of Naples, which is possible but not probable, and the young Prince should succeed to the throne of the Stilboys and the Sturdzas, which also is possible but not probable, republican America will then be represented on two of the thrones of Europe—a result, however, for which she will be in no way responsible.

The Prince DE JOINVILLE is on a visit at Constantinople with the Princess, and the French journal of that city makes the singular announcement that as soon as the French Minister, Mr. THOUVENEL, knew of the presence of the Prince in the city, he sent word to the Turkish Government that any attentions paid by the Government to the Prince during his stay in the city, would be considered as if paid to the French nation. If this be true, we are permitted to suppose that LOUIS NAPOLEON's hatred to the Orleans family is at last giving away.

The Government, determined to be prepared for all eventualities, and to fix its glories while it has the power, is about to establish two new galleries of paintings in the National Museum at the Palace of Versailles. The first will be called the Alma Saloon, and will contain the Landing, the battles of Alma, Inkermann, and the Cemetery. The second will be called the Malakoff Saloon, and will contain the various attacks toward and on that Fort. The English battles, Balaklava, the Redan, and the left wing of the combat at Alma, will be left out.

The health of Mademoiselle RACHEL is so much improved that she has been able to sit up and play a few games at cards with some of her intimate friends. No one, however, has any hope of a permanent amelioration. Her two children, ALEXANDER and GABRIEL, the first a legitimized son of Count WALEWSKI, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, the other, of less noble origin, are with their mother. Count WALEWSKI is educating the elder son for diplomacy, and as he is well provided for, Mademoiselle RACHEL has made her testament entirely in favor of the second son, GABRIEL.

The Government, struck by the extraordinary success of M. GOUDEMIN, an amateur astronomer, in finding comets, has just named that gentleman Chevalier in the Legion of Honor. M. GOUDEMIN's last two comets have been named by him les Jumelles—The Twins. The one preceding was named by M. BABINET Pulce, and the one preceding that which was found by M. GOUDEMIN about six months ago, was called, with the Empress' permission, Eugenie [illegible] MARAKOFF.

Brigham Young's Position.

The Washington States has the following:

"It is reported that Brigham Young and his people have determined to resist the entrance of the United States troops into the Mormon Territory, and threaten to burn the grass on the prairies, and generally to destroy their own settlements and the means of shelter during the Winter. The report accords with those we have received from other quarters, and the Mormon newspapers. We even affected to believe whether the Government would send out troops at such a season, as they might be thinly deprived by the Mormons of all supplies. Strategists, however, understand well which way the wind blows. Government Bonds at 6 per cent, and a Congress which can thunder in its threats by exclaiming that "the laws of the United States must and shall be obeyed," amounts to very little. Under the guise of the demands of the United States Government, and which he now proposes to resist, Brigham Young has had his own way in Utah. It is doubtful if he will consider the exercise of any Federal authority as an encroachment upon the rights of the Territory. Some years ago, in the south, in the Kansas troubles, very probably the same thing happened. The troops employed by the United States on that occasion will be found inadequate. Should the Mormons resist the authority, they will be expelled, or driven from the Territory, for the presence of a hostile community in the central part of the continent, and on the great line of communication across it, cannot be endured. Congress will, at its next session, fall to legislate upon the subject and will, according to Judge Douglas' expression, repeal the act establishing a Territorial Government, and partition the Territory between the adjacent States and Territories.

MY SISTER.

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Dwells my sister.

There is no carpet upon the floor,
The wind whistles in through the cracks of the door;
One might reckon her miseries by the score,
But who feels interest in one so poor?
Yet she is my sister.

She was blooming, and fresh, and young, and fair,
With bright blue eyes, and auburn hair;
But the rose is eaten with canker care,
And her visage is mark'd with a grim despair.
Such is my sister!

When at early morning, to rest her head,
She throws herself on her weary bed,
Longing to sleep the sleep of the dead,
Yet fearing, from all she has heard and read,
Pity my sister.

But the bright sun shines on her and on me,
And on mine and hers, and on thine and thee,
Whatever our lot in life may be,
Whether of high or low degree,
Still, she's our sister,
Weep for our sister,
Pray for our sister,
Succour our sister.

The India Mutiny—Second Letter from Rev Dr. Duff.

From the Presbyterian.

CALCUTTA, August 8, 1857.

MY DEAR FRIEND: Long ere this note comes to hand you will have heard of the terrible state of things in India. I would have written to you sooner concerning it, were it not that I was anxious to ascertain the fate of some of our dear missionary brethren in the Northwest, whose lives we knew were in imminent peril. We have reason to think God has preserved them, and Allahabad, though hard by, has escaped the fate of Delhi and other places, so missionary has as yet lost his life. But beyond Allahabad clouds and thick darkness have long been lowering—enough to fill our minds with saddest apprehensions.

Of the remarkable escape of GOPEE NATH NUNDY from Futtehpore, as well as of the safety of the brethren at Allahabad, you will have learnt before this can reach you. Mr. MAY, of the latter place, is now on his way home, and will tell you the incidents of his own experience. GOPEE NATH NUNDY is writing at considerable length to the Board at New-York.

At Agra, Saharanpore, Ambala, &c., we have no reason to apprehend that any life has been lost. For some time we were in sad suspense about Mr. BUTLER and his family, at Bareilly. But I feel truly thankful that a letter has at last been received from Mr. BUTLER himself, from the hill station of Nynil Tal, assuring us of the safety of himself and family. Mr. BUTLER, when amongst us, proved himself to be no ordinary man; while by his frank, open, hearty, generous spirit, he greatly endeared himself to all who had the privilege of making his acquaintance. All felt that the American Episcopal Methodist Church had been singularly favored in the choice of their first missionary to India.

And this brings me to Futtehgurh—the scene of greatest disaster, in a missionary point of view, in the ravaged and desolated Northwest. Rumor, after rumor has been reaching us from that quarter—each more distressing than another. Even now, we have no absolutely trustworthy information as to details. But we have too much reason to fear that all at Futtehgurh have been destroyed.

And, now, as to the causes of this terrible rebellion. Doubtless the primary ones are to be found in our own sins as a people and nation.

As to the proximate or immediate human instrumentality, I have no hesitation in saying, with the utmost emphasis, that the whole is the result of a long concocted Mohammedan conspiracy against the British power, with a view to the restablishment of a Mohammedan dynasty instead.

You will remember that in Mohammedanism there is an inseparable combination of the civil and spiritual power; and that its essential spirit is a fanatical spirit of conquest and dominion.

You will also remember that it was from Mohammedan rulers chiefly, and not from Hindoo rulers, that the British wrested the sceptre of Indian dominion. The Mohammedans often persecuted the Hindoos with the most terrible severities. Hence it is that the Hindoos generally were wont to look with favor on the British as their deliverers from the cruel Mohammedan yoke; and were well content passively to submit to the British sovereignty, and in many cases with cheerful acquiescence.

The case of the Mohammedans was totally different. Looking on the British as the subverters of their thrones, and the supplanters of their dynasties, they never could forgive them, and never could be peacefully reconciled to their supremacy.

For the last hundred years they have been sighing, and longing, and praying, not only in private, but in their public mosques, for the prosperity of the House of Timour, in the person of its representative, the titular King or Emperor of Delhi. But the prosperity of that house is only another name for the downfall of the British, and the reascending of the Mohammedan power.

So long, however, as the native army was faithful, there was no chance of success; and so their designs were kept in abeyance under the cloak or mask of professed loyalty to the British throne. At last a circumstance occurred, of which the conspirators took base advantage. The majority of the Sepoys of the Bengal army are Hindus of high caste—Brahmins and Rajputs. The latter the military class of India, next in social rank to the Brahmins—both extremely ignorant and excessively superstitious. Well, about the beginning of the present year, the Government wanted to introduce the improved Enfield rifle, the cartridge of which, as made in England, is greased with any fat—fat of course, cow's fat and hog's lard—the abominations of the Hindus and Mohammedans. Orders were issued to manufacture these in this country. But when the obnoxious ingredients that entered into their composition came to be known, peremptory instructions were given not to issue any of them to the native army; and so, in point of fact, none were actually issued.

But the emissaries of the Mohammedan conspirators, in various guises, went abroad among the Sepoys—gave exaggerated accounts of the new cartridge—and insinuated that its introduction was a cunning plot on the part of the British Government, designed to break their caste and coerce them into a profession of Christianity.

The evil-minded suggestion gradually spread and took root in the minds of the deluded Sepoys. Their superstitious prejudices were wounded in the sorest point. At last their minds became inflamed, and, like so many combustible materials, burst forth into open mutiny and rebellion—massacreing all the British and other foreigners, with native Christians on whom they could lay violent hands, and covering the whole land with incendiarism, plunder, devastation and blood. The titular king of Delhi has been proclaimed Emperor of India; the infuriated mutineers profess to receive and follow his decrees; while in some distant places, petty chieftains, alike Hindu and Mohammedan, are beginning to proclaim themselves kings of their own respective districts and provinces. The whole country to the southwest of Bengal is in a state of universal confusion and anarchy.

Such is, I believe, to be the true account of the rise and object of this disastrous rebellion.

The whole has burst upon us so unexpectedly that all, taken completely by surprise, have been quite unprepared. Hence the temporary sad success of the misguided rebels. But, they will be put down with a strong arm; I have no doubt about it; but not before much more unspeakable misery shall accrue from their frenzied violence. No season of the year would have been more inopportune for military operations on the part of the British; multitudes of our troops in the upper provinces are sickening, when the rainy hot winds cannot but engender fevers in their bosoms, in spite of every precaution; so sudden and so unexpected could not but have a temporary triumph. And the hot season following so immediately on the rainy season, will be a time of great and fearful misery. Still, all this will aggravate the guilt and destiny of the rebels, and the sooner they are put down, the sooner will the country be relieved from the pestiferous miscreants. Though many difficulties may yet have to be encountered, though many a reverse may yet be experienced, though many a year may yet elapse before the reign of peace and order is fully established, yet, if I mistake not the signs of the times, the Mohammedan reign is at an end, and, if I mistake not the signs of the times, the Mohammedan reign is at an end, and, if I mistake not the signs of the times, the Mohammedan reign is at an end, and

MARKET REPORTS.

Commercial Intelligence Received for the New-York Times.

NEW-YORK, Monday, Oct. 26, 1857—6 P. M.

The boisterous weather seriously obstructed business to-day. Quiet and somewhat nominal. Pearl, [illegible] to-day at [illegible]. BOOTS AND SHOES—The Boston Shoe and Leather Gazette says: "The Boot and Shoe business has been very quiet during the past week, but holders are firm in their views, and a good business is anticipated from the Southern and Western trade, who will be here in a few days. The quantity cleared at the Custom-House during the week ending this day, is not known at this office, but it is believed to be very small." We notice the exports of the week by the Canada from Boston, viz: 1,000 cases Boots and Shoes, and 1,000 cases Brogans, and 1,000 cases Boots and Shoes to San Francisco, and 1,000 cases Boots and Shoes to Valparaiso. The quantity cleared at the Custom-House during the week ending this day is not known at this office, but it is believed to be very small.

[illegible] Hides also are in request. We quote:

[illegible]	4,000	4,000
[illegible]	[illegible]	104,000
[illegible]	215,000	160,000
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

COFFEE—Continues very active, quiet and nominal.

ASHES—Pearls are very active, quiet and nominal.

FLOUR—State and Western Flour [illegible] Sales, 9,800 bbls.

State	$4 [illegible]	$4 [illegible]
[illegible]	4 [illegible]	4 [illegible]
State and Michigan	4 [illegible]	4 [illegible]
[illegible]	4 [illegible]	4 [illegible]
State and Michigan	4 [illegible]	4 [illegible]
[illegible]	4 [illegible]	4 [illegible]
[illegible]	5 [illegible]	5 [illegible]
[illegible]	5 [illegible]	5 [illegible]
[illegible]	5 [illegible]	5 [illegible]

Rye Flour is quiet and languid at $3 [illegible] Meal is abundant and dull at $3 25 for Brewery, and $3 75 for Brandy. Buckwheat Flour commands $2 [illegible]

GRAIN—Wheat is pretty good demand, but at [illegible] Sales 50,000 bushels, including Canadian [illegible] at $1 [illegible]; mixed Western, $1 [illegible]; prime Red do., 96c.@$1 13; prime White [illegible] and fair Red do., $1 [illegible] bushel. Corn [illegible] and down to 67½c.@69½c. for Western, [illegible] bushel. Sales since our last, 28,000 bushels. Rye and Barley are unchanged. Oats are worth 47c.@48c. for Western; [illegible] for State, 50c.@51c. for Jersey, and 51c.@[illegible] Western.

Chicago Board of Movement, Oct. 23 and 24.

	Receipts.	Shipments.
Flour, bbls.	3,170	[illegible]
Wheat, bushels	354,200	121,428
Corn, bushels	20,162	[illegible]
Oats, bushels	21,225	[illegible]

Buffalo Breadstuff Movement, Oct. 24.

	Receipts.	Shipments.
Flour, bbls.	10,067	670
Wheat, bushels	56,714	151,181
Corn, bushels	2,570	31,167
Oats, bushels	9,900	14,950
Barley, bushels	111	—

PROVISIONS—Pork is very quiet, yet holders ask [illegible] for mess, and $18 50@$19 for prime. Lard is active and tasquiet at 10½c. for Kettle, and 9½c.@9¾c. for Shoulders. Beef is unchanged. Beef Hams are quiet and nominal. The [illegible] are very quiet, holders ask [illegible] for Western, and [illegible] for Jersey, and 34c.@[illegible] Western.

Chicago Breadstuff Movement, Oct. 23 and 24.

	Receipts.	Shipments.
Flour, bbls.	5,170	[illegible]
Wheat, bushels	354,200	121,428
Corn, bushels	20,162	[illegible]
Oats, bushels	21,225	[illegible]

Buffalo Breadstuff Movement, Oct. 24.

	Receipts.	Shipments.
Flour, bbls.	10,067	670
Wheat, bushels	56,714	151,181
Corn, bushels	2,570	31,167
Oats, bushels	9,900	14,950
Barley, bushels	111	—

ASHES—Pearls are very active, quiet and nominal.

COFFEE—Continues very quiet, at nominal quotations. Sales Rio, 50@[illegible]; Cuba Muscovado, at [illegible]; New Orleans, [illegible].

NAVAL STORES—No important movements to-day.

PETROLEUM—Generally unchanged.

PROVISIONS—Pork is very quiet, yet holders ask [illegible] for mess, and $18 50@$19 for prime. Lard is active and tasquiet at 10½c. for Kettle, and 9½c.@9¾c. for Shoulders. Beef is unchanged. Beef Hams are quiet and nominal. The [illegible] are very quiet, holders ask [illegible] for Western, and [illegible] for Jersey, and 34c.@[illegible] Western.

TALLOW—Prime City is quoted at 10½c. Cake is depressed [illegible] for common, and $1 for fair. Hides are slow at [illegible].

WOOL—Nothing new.

HAY—Scarce and firm at 65c. for common, and $1 for [illegible].

MOLASSES—Continues very quiet, at nominal quotations. Cuba Muscovado, 30c.

severe on the Lakes. The Canadian lumber Christine was driven on shore and totally wrecked, near Oswego, and the brig General Worth, from Superior, went ashore at Cleveland and was badly damaged.

The trial of FREDERICK OSWALD, for the murder of OSCAR DE GRAMVAL, was commenced yesterday, in the Hudson County Court, New-Jersey. Distinguished Counsel are retained on each side.

1848 and 1857.

It is now very nearly ten years since the whole of Europe was shaken by a revolutionary earthquake. The laboring classes of the Continent, excited to frenzy by the declamations of philanthropists who loved their race not wisely but too well, and who sympathized with the sorrows without comprehending the nature of mankind, availed themselves of the overthrow of all political forms to attempt a reduction of the social order also, to a primitive chaos in which rights should be the condition of duties. We in America, after hailing with a somewhat inconsiderate enthusiasm the first appearances of republican victory in the old world, shrank back with no slight disgust from the subsequent revelations of the movement. Prosperous ourselves, and surrounded on every side by the evidences of individual activity and of individual success, the cry of the proletaire struck upon our ears with a ghastly and unnatural horror. We refused even the attempt to ascertain how far the excesses of socialistic theory in Europe were truly diseases of the public mind—crises of suffering, and not deliberate depravations of the will and of the character. We believed then, of course, that we should never be exposed to the ordeal through which Paris passed in blood in the days of June, and which London repelled only by a steady front of resolution on the 10th of April. Our "political institutions" were to save us forever from the pressure of the popular passions, and a revolt of the stomach was never to be apprehended on this side of the Atlantic. The voices of the passing hour somewhat sternly recall to us the history of ten years ago, and while they should teach us a clearer and more charitable judgment of the European Revolutionists, they warn us while it is yet time to beware lest a like thing overtake ourselves in the midst of our boasted ballot-boxes and of our liberal Legislatures.

How the Mayor of this City has treated the question of the relief of the laboring classes we already know. While urging upon the Municipal Government measures ingeniously contrived to exasperate the poor by further disappointments, and to increase the difficulties of the civic administration by adding another to the countless "jobs" on which our taxes and the character of our City are continually thrown away, Mr. WOOD raises the banner of the most fiery communism, and justifies by anticipation any possible excesses of the despairing poor, upon the persons and the property of the rich. This was bad enough, and all reflecting men must have seen in the words of the "Message" of Friday morning last, a darker omen for all classes of the community than hail frowned upon us from the crash of banks and the closing of factories. What, then, are we to say of the meeting of "German Workingmen" in Philadelphia, of which we this morning publish the report, as it comes to us from that city of "brotherly love?" At that meeting the sentiments of Mayor WOOD were indorsed, and by men whose indorsement means not approval only, but action.

The communism of Mayor WOOD may be, and doubtless is, a mere personal "fetch,"—a "trap to catch the sunbeams" of popularity. But the communism of the Germans in Philadelphia is the cry of starving and desperate men—it is the communism, in a word, of the barricades of Paris, and of the "Assemblies" of 1848. How is this fatal madness to be dealt with when it thus takes shape from the very "form and pressure of the times?"

Doubtless there are hundreds and thousands of intelligent workingmen in New-York, in Philadelphia, in Baltimore, in all the centres of distress, who cannot be stung into the suicidal folly of riot and disorder even by the double spur of the actual anguish of want and of the deceitful hope of relief. But when we remember how large a proportion of our foreign population have come to us inoculated with the turpitudes of 1848, and how many of our native citizens have been more or less demoralized by the examples and the appeals of just such men as the one to whom the supreme charge of our municipal interests is now confided, would it not be the height of fatuous and stupid indifference for us to suppose that the calamities of the coming Winter can be borne in this country without the frightful aggravations of popular violence and of organized crime, unless the enlightened portions of the community, whether of the mercantile, the mechanic or the professional classes, set themselves at once about their public duties. If our City Governments shall at once take steps to afford all wise and practicable relief in the emergencies of the moment—and to organize the protective forces of the people into proportions and an order which shall make the ignorantly suffering patient, by making the designing and the demagogic hopeless. We may rely upon it that the recollections of the "year of revolutions" will be revived in our minds with all the tremendous reality of experience. Twenty years ago, when the numbers of the suffering poor were much more restricted, and when the habits of the purely American mind held a stronger sway over the working classes of this City, the intolerable pangs of starvation found vent in a storm of senseless violence.

The "flour-riots of 1837" have not been forgotten by old Knickerbockers, and there are thousands of men who can remember the miserable spectacle of armed Americans marching upon their fellow-citizens to repress disorder which hunger alone had provoked. If such scenes infamed into ten-fold violence shall disgrace our Municipal history again, the responsibility will rest upon the heads of our citizens themselves, who, being warned in time, are by that warning fully armed.

A CENTRAL RELIEVING HOUSE.—A very sensible movement has been made in Boston, with a view to the relief of the poor during the coming season, which might be imitated here with great advantage to all classes of the community. The plan in question is the establishment of a central house, or office, where all persons who are compelled to seek aid from the public or private charities of the city, may apply for information or relief. Many poor wretches might escape from the degradation of beggary, and private families be saved the annoyances of constant appeals from the suffering, if they only knew where to apply for relief. There might, and ought to be, a central house for relief, to be kept open night and day, where the suffering poor could apply and make known their necessities, and be directed where to go for assistance according to their circumstances. Some such arrangement as this will be needed this Winter, as much for the relief of the suffering poor as for the suffering rich and well-to-do, who, after contributing their quota for the relief of the poor, ought not to be subjected to the annoyance of mendicants at their own doors.

Curtailment of Credits.

It follows as a matter of course, in all times of difficulty, that an immediate investigation should be made into the causes of the disorders from which the community suffers. Divers are the sources to which the present financial troubles have been traced, and among them long credits have been supposed by many to be the most prolific of disasters. The domestic commission-houses, which have been the greatest sufferers, as they were the first to feel the effects of the commercial revulsion, had taken the subject into consideration some months ago; we called attention to the movement at the time, but we believe no agreement was arrived at by the houses in question then. Some of the Boston houses, we learn, have recently determined to shorten their credits, and the dry-goods importers have also begun to agitate the matter; but in the present unsettled state of affairs it will be difficult to make any permanent change in the credit system. On Saturday night the hardware dealers of this City held a meeting at the Astor House to discuss the subject of curtailment of credits, and we have noticed that one of our daily cotemporaries has avowed itself in favor of a total abolition of the credit system, and a return to the barbarian practice of ready money and pay as you go. Ready money is certainly preferable to long credits, and cash on the nail has a very pleasant and seductive sound to a matter-of-fact business man. But ready-money transactions are simply impossible, except to a very small extent, in an enterprising commercial community. The credit system is an integral and essential element of modern civilization, which cannot be abolished nor dispensed with. It is the natural outgrowth of the peaceful relations which exist between commercial nations, and is very justly regarded as one of the surest pledges of peace. Two communities that are largely indebted to each other cannot afford to quarrel, and what is true of nations and States is also true of individuals. But the credit system is, of course, subject to abuses, and it cannot be denied that extensive and indiscriminate credits have been among the causes which produced our present financial troubles. To attempt to remedy the evil, however, by an undiscriminating curtailment of credits in all departments of trade would be productive of much greater harm than it would cure. As the system of credits has gradually grown out of the necessities of the trading world, any abuses which have crept into it, might be as gradually abated by the exigencies of the parties affected. No evils can be cured by conventions or resolutions. The system is full of anomalies and apparent inconsistencies, which are puzzling to a superficial observer; but they are, doubtless, perfectly coherent and strictly in conformity with the necessities of business. Thus, it is difficult to understand why certain articles should be always sold for cash, while others of a similar nature are sold on a credit of eight months. Cotton, for example, is always a cash article, while cotton goods are sold on credits of six and eight months. Wheat, corn, rice and whisky are cash articles, but sugar and coffee are uniformly sold at four months; tea is sold at six and eight months, while St. Domingo coffee is always quoted at cash prices. Imported liquors and wines are sold at six months' credit, and molasses at four months. Nearly every description of European manufactured goods sold here are sold at a credit of six and eight months; but the importer buys on a credit of four months from the day of shipment. These are the wholesale rules of credit; but the jobber sells on uniform time to his country customer. The grocer sells on a credit of four months; but all others, drygoods, hardware, dealers, crockery and dry goods jurchants, sell at six months; and it has been often urged, as an argument in favor of short credits, that there are fewer bad debts among the grocers than in any other department of trade. This fact we believe to be true; but we doubt the cause assigned; for all jobbers do, in effect, sell upon the same credit. Their country customers settle with them twice a year when they come to town to make their purchases, and the difference between the dry-goods jobber and the grocer is that one charges interest after four months, and one after six. The reason why grocers more rarely fail than dry-goods dealers, is that they only purchase to meet the actual wants of their customers, and that their goods do not depreciate in value by being kept on hand; while the value of dry goods depends in a great degree upon the caprices of Fashion, and are often rendered worthless by being kept over a season. There is no natural limit to the demand for dry goods, and dealers are continually stimulated to lay in larger stocks than the demands of their business require.

In this country the constant and natural tendency is to an expansion, and not contraction of credits, and we do not imagine that any effort will be successful in checking this tendency, but for a brief season. Whatever we have become as a prosperous people, has been by virtue of the credit system, and, with the growth of the country and the expansion of our population, the system must expand. The farmers of the West and the planters of the South produce their crops on a credit basis. Slaves and cattle are cash commodities, but land may be had upon trust, and all the necessaries required by the planter and the farmer while their crops are maturing must be obtained on credit. The importer trusts the jobber, the jobber trusts the country storekeeper, and he trusts the farmer, and the farmer trusts to the soil. When the harvest is gathered, the farmer sells his grain for cash, and pays the storekeeper; the storekeeper pays the jobber, and the jobber pays the importer or commission merchant, who pays the foreign or home manufacturer. This is the natural course of credit, and, under the system which has grown out of our condition, we have waxed prosperous, and become a mighty people. If great capitalists cultivated the soil, there would be no necessity for a credit system; the farmer, while waiting for his crops to grow, could afford to pay cash on the nail for the necessary commodities used in his family; but capital seeks other fields than corn fields, and, in nine cases out of ten, the producers of our great staples anticipate their harvests by means of the credit system.

But, after all, the seemingly long credits are not so long as they appear to be. The Eastern manufacturer, for instance, sells his goods to the New-York jobber on a credit of six and eight months; he has paid cash for his raw material, and he charges a profit according to the time given, which includes insurance for the risk he runs; it seems a long time to wait for his pay; but, as Mr. NATHAN APPLETON stated in his letter to the President of the Bank of Commerce, a few weeks ago, the manufacturer puts his six months' notes into Bank where they are discounted, and he does, in fact, get cash for his merchandise.

The credit system works very smoothly and happily until it begins to run into excesses, and then it corrects its vices by a general smashing and crashing, such as we are in the midst of now. But, happily, these crises do not occur oftener than once in twenty years, and even then it will be found that the crisis is not brought on by the regular transactions of trade, but by extraneous causes for which legitimate commerce ought not to be held responsible.

Kansas Affairs.

There seems little reason to doubt that the Free-State Party have carried the Territorial Legislature in Kansas, as well as the Congressional Delegate. It is conceded on all sides that unless the fraudulent vote in Johnson County is allowed to give that District to the Democrats, they have no chance of controlling either branch of the Legislature,—nor is it quite certain that they could do so even with all the advantage of that fraud. The latest returns, contained in our Kansas exchanges, give the Free-State men 27 out of the 39 Representatives, and 9 out of the 13 Councilmen. We publish a protest, which has been sent to Governor WALKER and Secretary STANTON, against the return of over 1,600 votes in the Oxford District. The names of voters to this number are entered upon the voting list,—but it is stated that the signatures of the three Judges of Election are all in the same handwriting;—and it is notorious that there are not a hundred bona fide citizens resident in that town. By our telegraphic dispatch from St. Louis it will be seen that Governor WALKER and Secretary STANTON, in response to this protest, have issued a proclamation, in which they declare their intention to reject the entire vote of Oxford and give certificates to the Free-State candidates. Secretary STANTON's course in connection with the exercise of the right of suffrage in the Territory, has been marked by fairness and candor, and he has acted consistently in defeating the glaring fraud which was attempted upon the rights of the people.

We copy also from the Herald of Freedom, a decided but not partisan advocate of Free-State principles, what appears to be an authoritative statement of the action of Gov. WALKER upon several points connected with the election, in regard to which his conduct has been severely censured. It has been alleged that the Governor advised a Mr. HERNDON to vote, knowing that he was from Missouri. The statement, in itself highly improbable, is directly and explicitly contradicted on the authority of Lieut. CARR, who heard the conversation, and who states that Gov. WALKER told Mr. HERNDON that he could not vote. We have no doubt that, of the two versions of the story, this is the true one.

What has seemed at this distance the most serious charge against the Governor is the allegation that he permitted and advised the soldiers to vote at Kickapoo,—in direct violation of the Nebraska bill, as well as the Territorial law. The Herald of Freedom gives what is probably a true statement of the case. It will be remembered that in his Proclamation concerning the election, Governor WALKER took the ground that the Territorial Election law of 1857 virtually repealed the Election law of 1855, which prohibited soldiers from voting, and restricted the suffrage to those who should have paid a tax. In this position he was sustained by the President and his Cabinet,—and it was in consequence of it that the Free-State men, who had refused to pay the tax, secured the right to vote. But the Governor was also asked whether the same decision did not of necessity imply that the prohibition of soldiers from voting, contained in the law of 1855, was also repealed by the subsequent law of 1857, which declared that "all citizens of the United States, who had resided six months within the Territory," should have the right to vote. And he felt compelled to say that it did, and that all soldiers, who had their families with them and had been for six months bona fide residents of the Territory, were entitled to vote. The importance of this decision, it is stated, has been greatly exaggerated, inasmuch as only forty or fifty soldiers voted under it, and the result was in no way affected by it. We are constrained to acknowledge that the explanation thus given relieves Gov. WALKER from the censure to which we supposed he had rendered himself obnoxious.

THE STREET COMMISSIONERSHIP.—The decision of Judge PRESCOTT, which was rendered on Friday last, in relation to the Street Commissionership, puts the office into the hands of the Governor's appointee, Mr. CONOVER, who is now in charge; but the Attorney-General having granted permission for a writ of quo warranto, to be brought in the name of the State, the question as to the rightful possessor of the office, whether CONOVER or DEVLIN, has yet to be decided, and it remains for the Comptroller to say, in the meanwhile, whether the present incumbent of the office shall perform its duties or not. So far as the public are concerned, it is not a matter of very great interest who the individual may be that is recognized as Street Commissioner, but it is of great importance to the community at the present time, that the business of the Department should be carried on by somebody. There is now a sufficient quantity of work to be done, which the Common Council has authorized the Street Commissioner to make contracts for, to give employment to at least 5,000 men; but no contracts can be entered upon by the Commissioner, owing to the hesitation of the Comptroller, and he has not yet determined whether he will recognize Mr. CONOVER or not. There could never be a more favorable opportunity, for the interest of the City, than the present time, to complete the unfinished work of the Street Commissioner's Department. Labor is plenty and cheap, and contracts could be made at a much lower rate than at any time during the past ten years. The very men who might be employed by the Department, if not set to work, will probably have to be taken care of by the Alms House Department.

City and Country Banks.

We notice in the proceedings of the Convention of New-York Country Bankers at Syracuse a few days since, that an apprehension was expressed that the accumulation of Country circulation in and near the City would prove inconvenient, perhaps, disastrous to many of the Bankers on the resumption of specie payments. This fear ought to be, if it is not, wholly groundless. The City will not attempt a general resumption without the Country; nor until the latter is fully prepared for it. The banking interest of the State will never be disintegrated. We believe this to be the present feeling of a large majority of the City Bankers. The late embarrassment before the suspension, and the Metropolitan plan of using the Country circulation since, have wrought a change of views, as well as policy, on this subject. The change is entirely consistent with the intent and spirit of the general banking law. The currency of New-York is and ought to be a unit from Buffalo to Montauk Point. If there be among our City Bankers any discontented spirits who think otherwise, they have their remedy—they can wind up and quit. They have no chartered right to force the policy of a small minority upon the large majority, and no right at all, as the Legislature would probably teach them, if required, to contravene the genius of the system. Recent events go to prove that the Banks throughout the State must stand or fall together.

There is no injustice or inequality in this principle. The right to bank, under the law, is a free one, but the privilege of doing so, and the law itself, are important as well as liberal grants, from the State, which must be wisely and harmoniously appreciated, or they can at any time be withdrawn by the law-making power, without the violation of any vested right. It was different, under the old Constitution, which sanctioned close charters, but these have nearly all passed away, by original limitation. The gentlemen in Wall-street, who occasionally make wry faces at the country banks, and at the Free Law itself, are no longer of the favored few in the Safety Fund list.

But, let us look at the New-York system on the cardinal point of circulation. It assimilates to the English law of currency as near as may be. It recognizes, like Sir ROBERT PEEL's bill, the mixed basis of specie and public stocks. It sanctions a certain, but very limited amount of circulation without other basis specifically. This is done to preserve inviolate the Safety Fund privileges, until these all expire by limitation. Registration at the Department only is demanded from these peculiar banks, and this single check has been found sufficient, in most instances, to keep them in line with the free banks. The currency of New-York now consists of about twenty-eight millions dollars, of which twenty is fully secured by public securities in the Department by the Free Banks; three and a half of Safety-Fund issue guaranteed by these banks to be liquidated or retired in three years, and four and a half by the still existing Safety Fund Banks, and the Manhattan Company of this City. The whole is now made a uniform currency. It was nearly so, under the law, before suspension. The difference then was that the country circulation was required to be redeemed in the City on an abatement of one-quarter of one per cent., or at the counter, in full. There is no reason why this uniformity should be disturbed. There is every reason why the value and currency of a city and a country bank-note should be kept the same, and the banking interest from one end of the State to the other move in perfect unison. The circulation is not excessive; from the nature of the public debt of New-York, it cannot be made excessive or insecure. Two weeks ago it had reached an inconvenient minimum. The reaction, under the Metropolitan plan, will restore something like the sum needful and consistent with the trade and business of the country.

The English system, to which our own is assimilated, authorizes the country or provincial banks, exclusive of Scotland and Ireland, to circulate thirty-seven millions dollars (or £7,525,000) over and above the specie representative. This answers to our Safety-Fund circulation. It is scarcely so well guarded. The English Bank in London is authorized to issue seventy-two millions dollars (or £14,475,000) on the pledge of public securities, and as much more as the bullion held in the banking department. There is no difference known between the City and Provincial circulation. The issues of the Bank of England correspond in amount and vary with the bullion in the Bank and the £14,475,000 in securities. The Notes unemployed in the Banking Department are held as so much reserved ability in the establishment to extend its discounts. The whole issue being secured in the Issue Department, as our New-York currency is secured in the corresponding Department at Albany, the Notes Unemployed and Gold are held in equal regard as a test of banking ability. The Gold has no higher representative value than the Public Securities pledged, in common, for the Circulation. Of the authorized issue on the last English report of £24,553,000, the bank held unemployed £4,606,000, and this sum is, for the time, the measure of the strength of the bank to regulate its general movement.

We make this explanation by way of illustrating the position of the banks in this City toward the Country Currency which they hold in reserve in the Metropolitan Bank. They have accumulated by collections from the country, in ten days since the plan was adopted and the equality of the Country Circulation thus acknowledged, about three millions of dollars. This is equal, in every financial sense, to the same amount of Gold. The certificates based upon it are made to adjust balances be-

The New-York Times.

TUESDAY, OCT. 27, 1857.

THE NEW-YORK TIMES.

DAILY TIMES, published every morning, Sundays excepted, at TEN DOLLARS a year; or TWO DOLLARS a copy, for any shorter period at the rate of Twenty Cents per week; mailed [illegible]

WEEKLY TIMES—Four Dollars a year; eight copies to one address, Twenty Dollars; twenty copies to one address, Twenty Dollars; twenty copies for Twenty Dollars; and any larger number at the same rate. Cash invariably in advance—Bills of all specie-paying Banks received at par.

All letters to be addressed to the "New-York TIMES, New-York City."

The Correspondence

[illegible] will receive no attention. All communications must be authenticated by the name of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guaranty of the [illegible]

[illegible] should always be addressed to the Publisher.

[illegible] should be addressed to the Editor.

[illegible] should be addressed to the Publisher.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

[illegible] of the Free-State men in Kansas [illegible] to be fully assured, both [illegible] Mr. PARROTT as Delegate to [illegible] in the return of a majority of the members of the Legislature. A protest, which we publish elsewhere this morning, signed by several prominent citizens of Kansas, against the fraudulent returns from the [illegible] Precinct of Johnson County, was filed [illegible] last, and in response to it, after [illegible] examination, Governor WALKER and Secretary STANTON issued a Proclamation on the [illegible], in which they declare their intention to throw out the entire vote of Oxford, and to give certificates of election to the Free-State candidates. The Proclamation is said to have created a great deal of excitement among the extreme Pro-Slavery men, which [illegible] itself in threats against the Governor and Secretary.

Our special Washington correspondent telegraphs that the Administration show evidences of recovery from the effect of the money panic, and that probably the necessity of curtailing the expenditures on the public works to any extent will not arise. Secretary COBB [illegible] the opinion that in the course of two or three months the revenue will increase sufficiently to provide for all current expenses.

The BREADSTUFFS PRODUCE MARKET opened tamely yesterday, the boisterous weather checked all movements. Flour, Wheat and Corn [illegible] pretty freely at reduced prices. The Hudson River boats brought down, during the previous 48 hours, 27,898 bbls. Flour; 98,000 bushels Wheat, 28,300 bushels Corn, and [illegible] bushels Barley. Pork was inactive, but held with more confidence. Lard was in fair demand, and Beef appeared in better request, each, however, at decidedly lower rates. Groceries ruled quiet at old figures. Cotton was unaltered. Freights were doing better.

HEBER C. KIMBALL, one of the most prominent of the Mormon Elders, has lately delivered a discourse at Salt Lake City, in which he takes strong ground against the Government of the United States, and expresses the determination of the Mormons to resist the Power to the last extremity. BRIGHAM YOUNG also made a speech in the same vein. In [illegible] of the anticipated difficulty with the Mormons, an unfortunate occurrence lately took place on the Great Plains. A driver, without any provocation, killed a woman and child belonging to a tribe of Indians which has hitherto refused to join the Mormons against the Government, and also fired at the Chief. It is feared that this may have the effect of creating a hostile feeling, which will end in alliance of the tribe with BRIGHAM YOUNG.

Yesterday, at 1½ P. M., the Commissioners of Police held a secret session, at which, it is said, no business of importance was transacted. They adjourned till to-day, (Tuesday,) at the same hour. It is understood that no letter was received from Mr. DRAPER relative to his election, or indicative of his decision on the matter of acceptance or non-acceptance, though it was very confidently asserted among the crowds of expectants that lined the sidewalk that Mr. DRAPER had signified his intention of accepting, but was detained for the present from entering on his duties as a member of the Board by the sickness of one of his family.

The Board of Aldermen granted to the Trustees of the Eastern Dispensary one-half of the block of land on which their building now is for twenty-one years, at the nominal rent of one dollar a year. A desponding communication was received from STEPHEN H. BRANCH, and referred to the Finance Committee. The majority and minority reports on the removal of steamboat landings further up-town were called up and read, and, after some debate, the whole subject was laid over, and ordered to be taken up on Thursday next.

[illegible] Board of Supervisors has, yesterday, the report on the salaries of the Comptroller was [illegible] for Thursday. A resolution was adopted calling on the Comptroller to assign reasons why they have reduced the salaries of the surveyors. A similar resolution was presented, calling upon the authorities to provide employment for the thousands of persons now out of work, and likely to remain so during the Winter, and suggesting their immediate employment upon public works. An ordinance for authorizing the issue of bonds to the amount of $250,000 to pay for improvements in Central Park was laid upon the table, with the understanding that it was soon to be taken up. Mr. HARVEY HART, formerly Receiver of Taxes, forwarded a lengthy but obscure communication in explanation of his connection with the duties of the department. The Harlem Gas Bill was adopted, and the Board adjourned to Thursday.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday adopted the report of the committee fixing the salaries of the clerks of the Marine Court as follows: The clerk, $2,500 per annum; first assistant, $1,800; second assistant, 1,200, &c. The bills for refitting the Supreme Court rooms, amounting to $4,468 16, came up. Supervisor TUCKER opposed it on the ground that it was full 50 per cent. too high. A portion was referred back, and finally the whole were sent back to the committee. They also decided to appoint a docket clerk, for the County Clerk's office, at a salary of $900 a year. The Board then adjourned to Monday next.

A tea-meeting was held last evening in Rev. Dr. H. GARNET's Church, Prince-street, near Broadway, the object of which was to collect sufficient money to purchase the liberty of a colored Methodist Episcopal preacher who is in bondage at Newbern, N. C. Tea was served at 7 o'clock, but, on account of the unpleasant weather which prevented many from attending who would otherwise have been there, the speeches which were to have followed were postponed. Another tea-meeting will take place at the same place for the same object [illegible] at 7 P. M., the weather [illegible] addresses will be made by [illegible], DOUGLASS, GARNET and [illegible] and Rev. Mr. HAYNES.

The Senate of the extension bill for Dalle Torre was yesterday received before United States Commissioner [illegible], on account of a colored boy, the cook of the vessel. The court [illegible] was adjourned to Monday at 1 o'clock.

The gale which prevailed yesterday was very severe on the Lakes. The Canadian lumber Christine was driven on shore and totally wrecked, near Oswego, and the brig General Worth, from Superior, went ashore at Cleveland and was badly damaged.

The trial of FREDERICK OSWALD, for the murder of OSCAR DE GRAMVAL, was commenced yesterday, in the Hudson County Court, New-Jersey. Distinguished Counsel are retained on each side.

1848 and 1857.

It is now very nearly ten years since the whole of Europe was shaken by a revolutionary earthquake. The laboring classes of the Continent, excited to frenzy by the declamations of philanthropists who loved their race not wisely but too well, and who sympathized with the sorrows without comprehending the nature of mankind, availed themselves of the overthrow of all political forms to attempt a reduction of the social order also, to a primitive chaos in which rights should be the condition of duties. We in America, after hailing with a somewhat inconsiderate enthusiasm the first appearances of republican victory in the old world, shrank back with no slight disgust from the subsequent revelations of the movement. Prosperous ourselves, and surrounded on every side by the evidences of individual activity and of individual success, the cry of the proletaire struck upon our ears with a ghastly and unnatural horror. We refused even the attempt to ascertain how far the excesses of socialistic theory in Europe were truly diseases of the public mind—crises of suffering, and not deliberate depravations of the will and of the character. We believed then, of course, that we should never be exposed to the ordeal through which Paris passed in blood in the days of June, and which London repelled only by a steady front of resolution on the 10th of April. Our "political institutions" were to save us forever from the pressure of the popular passions, and a revolt of the stomach was never to be apprehended on this side of the Atlantic. The voices of the passing hour somewhat sternly recall to us the history of ten years ago, and while they should teach us a clearer and more charitable judgment of the European Revolutionists, they warn us while it is yet time to beware lest a like thing overtake ourselves in the midst of our boasted ballot-boxes and of our liberal Legislatures.

How the Mayor of this City has treated the question of the relief of the laboring classes we already know. While urging upon the Municipal Government measures ingeniously contrived to exasperate the poor by further disappointments, and to increase the difficulties of the civic administration by adding another to the countless "jobs" on which our taxes and the character of our City are continually thrown away, Mr. WOOD raises the banner of the most fiery communism, and justifies by anticipation any possible excesses of the despairing poor, upon the persons and the property of the rich. This was bad enough, and all reflecting men must have seen in the words of the "Message" of Friday morning last, a darker omen for all classes of the community than hail frowned upon us from the crash of banks and the closing of factories. What, then, are we to say of the meeting of "German Workingmen" in Philadelphia, of which we this morning publish the report, as it comes to us from that city of "brotherly love?" At that meeting the sentiments of Mayor WOOD were indorsed, and by men whose indorsement means not approval only, but action.

The communism of Mayor WOOD may be, and doubtless is, a mere personal "fetch,"—a "trap to catch the sunbeams" of popularity. But the communism of the Germans in Philadelphia is the cry of starving and desperate men—it is the communism, in a word, of the barricades of Paris, and of the "Assemblies" of 1848. How is this fatal madness to be dealt with when it thus takes shape from the very "form and pressure of the times?"

Doubtless there are hundreds and thousands of intelligent workingmen in New-York, in Philadelphia, in Baltimore, in all the centres of distress, who cannot be stung into the suicidal folly of riot and disorder even by the double spur of the actual anguish of want and of the deceitful hope of relief. But when we remember how large a proportion of our foreign population have come to us inoculated with the turpitudes of 1848, and how many of our native citizens have been more or less demoralized by the examples and the appeals of just such men as the one to whom the supreme charge of our municipal interests is now confided, would it not be the height of fatuous and stupid indifference for us to suppose that the calamities of the coming Winter can be borne in this country without the frightful aggravations of popular violence and of organized crime, unless the enlightened portions of the community, whether of the mercantile, the mechanic or the professional classes, set themselves at once about their public duties. If our City Governments shall at once take steps to afford all wise and practicable relief in the emergencies of the moment—and to organize the protective forces of the people into proportions and an order which shall make the ignorantly suffering patient, by making the designing and the demagogic hopeless. We may rely upon it that the recollections of the "year of revolutions" will be revived in our minds with all the tremendous reality of experience. Twenty years ago, when the numbers of the suffering poor were much more restricted, and when the habits of the purely American mind held a stronger sway over the working classes of this City, the intolerable pangs of starvation found vent in a storm of senseless violence.

The "flour-riots of 1837" have not been forgotten by old Knickerbockers, and there are thousands of men who can remember the miserable spectacle of armed Americans marching upon their fellow-citizens to repress disorder which hunger alone had provoked. If such scenes inflamed into ten-fold violence shall disgrace our Municipal history again, the responsibility will rest upon the heads of our citizens themselves, who, being warned in time, are by that warning fully armed.

A CENTRAL RELIEVING HOUSE.—A very sensible movement has been made in Boston, with a view to the relief of the poor during the coming season, which might be imitated here with great advantage to all classes of the community. The plan in question is the establishment of a central house, or office, where all persons who are compelled to seek aid from the public or private charities of the city, may apply for information or relief. Many poor wretches might escape from the degradation of beggary, and private families be saved the annoyances of constant appeals from the suffering, if they only knew where to apply for relief. There might, and ought to be, a central house for relief, to be kept open night and day, where the suffering poor could apply and make known their necessities, and be directed where to go for assistance according to their circumstances. Some such arrangement as this will be needed this Winter, as much for the relief of the suffering poor as for the suffering rich and well-to-do, who, after contributing their quota for the relief of the poor, ought not to be subjected to the annoyance of mendicants at their own doors.

Curtailment of Credits.

It follows as a matter of course, in all times of difficulty, that an immediate investigation should be made into the causes of the disorders from which the community suffers. Divers are the sources to which the present financial troubles have been traced, and among them long credits have been supposed by many to be the most prolific of disasters. The domestic commission-houses, which have been the greatest sufferers, as they were the first to feel the effects of the commercial revulsion, had taken the subject into consideration some months ago; we called attention to the movement at the time, but we believe no agreement was arrived at by the houses in question then. Some of the Boston houses, we learn, have recently determined to shorten their credits, and the dry-goods importers have also begun to agitate the matter; but in the present unsettled state of affairs it will be difficult to make any permanent change in the credit system. On Saturday night the hardware dealers of this City held a meeting at the Astor House to discuss the subject of curtailment of credits, and we have noticed that one of our daily cotemporaries has avowed itself in favor of a total abolition of the credit system, and a return to the barbarian practice of ready money and pay as you go. Ready money is certainly preferable to long credits, and cash on the nail has a very pleasant and seductive sound to a matter-of-fact business man. But ready-money transactions are simply impossible, except to a very small extent, in an enterprising commercial community. The credit system is an integral and essential element of modern civilization, which cannot be abolished nor dispensed with. It is the natural outgrowth of the peaceful relations which exist between commercial nations, and is very justly regarded as one of the surest pledges of peace. Two communities that are largely indebted to each other cannot afford to quarrel, and what is true of nations and States is also true of individuals. But the credit system is, of course, subject to abuses, and it cannot be denied that extensive and indiscriminate credits have been among the causes which produced our present financial troubles. To attempt to remedy the evil, however, by an undiscriminating curtailment of credits in all departments of trade would be productive of much greater harm than it would cure. As the system of credits has gradually grown out of the necessities of the trading world, any abuses which have crept into it, might be as gradually abated by the exigencies of the parties affected. No evils can be cured by conventions or resolutions. The system is full of anomalies and apparent inconsistencies, which are puzzling to a superficial observer; but they are, doubtless, perfectly coherent and strictly in conformity with the necessities of business. Thus, it is difficult to understand why certain articles should be always sold for cash, while others of a similar nature are sold on a credit of eight months. Cotton, for example, is always a cash article, while cotton goods are sold on credits of six and eight months. Wheat, corn, rice and whisky are cash articles, but sugar and coffee are uniformly sold at four months; tea is sold at six and eight months, while St. Domingo coffee is always quoted at cash prices. Imported liquors and wines are sold at six months' credit, and molasses at four months. Nearly every description of European manufactured goods sold here are sold at a credit of six and eight months; but the importer buys on a credit of four months from the day of shipment. These are the wholesale rules of credit; but the jobber sells on uniform time to his country customer. The grocer sells on a credit of four months; but all others, drygoods, hardware, dealers, crockery and dry goods jurchants, sell at six months; and it has been often urged, as an argument in favor of short credits, that there are fewer bad debts among the grocers than in any other department of trade. This fact we believe to be true; but we doubt the cause assigned; for all jobbers do, in effect, sell upon the same credit. Their country customers settle with them twice a year when they come to town to make their purchases, and the difference between the dry-goods jobber and the grocer is that one charges interest after four months, and one after six. The reason why grocers more rarely fail than dry-goods dealers, is that they only purchase to meet the actual wants of their customers, and that their goods do not depreciate in value by being kept on hand; while the value of dry goods depends in a great degree upon the caprices of Fashion, and are often rendered worthless by being kept over a season. There is no natural limit to the demand for dry goods, and dealers are continually stimulated to lay in larger stocks than the demands of their business require.

In this country the constant and natural tendency is to an expansion, and not contraction of credits, and we do not imagine that any effort will be successful in checking this tendency, but for a brief season. Whatever we have become as a prosperous people, has been by virtue of the credit system, and, with the growth of the country and the expansion of our population, the system must expand. The farmers of the West and the planters of the South produce their crops on a credit basis. Slaves and cattle are cash commodities, but land may be had upon trust, and all the necessaries required by the planter and the farmer while their crops are maturing must be obtained on credit. The importer trusts the jobber, the jobber trusts the country storekeeper, and he trusts the farmer, and the farmer trusts to the soil. When the harvest is gathered, the farmer sells his grain for cash, and pays the storekeeper; the storekeeper pays the jobber, and the jobber pays the importer or commission merchant, who pays the foreign or home manufacturer. This is the natural course of credit, and, under the system which has grown out of our condition, we have waxed prosperous, and become a mighty people. If great capitalists cultivated the soil, there would be no necessity for a credit system; the farmer, while waiting for his crops to grow, could afford to pay cash on the nail for the necessary commodities used in his family; but capital seeks other fields than corn fields, and, in nine cases out of ten, the producers of our great staples anticipate their harvests by means of the credit system.

But, after all, the seemingly long credits are not so long as they appear to be. The Eastern manufacturer, for instance, sells his goods to the New-York jobber on a credit of six and eight months; he has paid cash for his raw material, and he charges a profit according to the time given, which includes insurance for the risk he runs; it seems a long time to wait for his pay; but, as Mr. NATHAN APPLETON stated in his letter to the President of the Bank of Commerce, a few weeks ago, the manufacturer puts his six months' notes into Bank where they are discounted, and he does, in fact, get cash for his merchandise.

The credit system works very smoothly and happily until it begins to run into excesses, and then it corrects its vices by a general smashing and crashing, such as we are in the midst of now. But, happily, these crises do not occur oftener than once in twenty years, and even then it will be found that the crisis is not brought on by the regular transactions of trade, but by extraneous causes for which legitimate commerce ought not to be held responsible.

Kansas Affairs.

There seems little reason to doubt that the Free-State Party have carried the Territorial Legislature in Kansas, as well as the Congressional Delegate. It is conceded on all sides that unless the fraudulent vote in Johnson County is allowed to give that District to the Democrats, they have no chance of controlling either branch of the Legislature,—nor is it quite certain that they could do so even with all the advantage of that fraud. The latest returns, contained in our Kansas exchanges, give the Free-State men 27 out of the 39 Representatives, and 9 out of the 13 Councilmen. We publish a protest, which has been sent to Governor WALKER and Secretary STANTON, against the return of over 1,600 votes in the Oxford District. The names of voters to this number are entered upon the voting list,—but it is stated that the signatures of the three Judges of Election are all in the same handwriting;—and it is notorious that there are not a hundred bona fide citizens resident in that town. By our telegraphic dispatch from St. Louis it will be seen that Governor WALKER and Secretary STANTON, in response to this protest, have issued a proclamation, in which they declare their intention to reject the entire vote of Oxford and give certificates to the Free-State candidates. Secretary STANTON's course in connection with the exercise of the right of suffrage in the Territory, has been marked by fairness and candor, and he has acted consistently in defeating the glaring fraud which was attempted upon the rights of the people.

We copy also from the Herald of Freedom, a decided but not partisan advocate of Free-State principles, what appears to be an authoritative statement of the action of Gov. WALKER upon several points connected with the election, in regard to which his conduct has been severely censured. It has been alleged that the Governor advised a Mr. HERNDON to vote, knowing that he was from Missouri. The statement, in itself highly improbable, is directly and explicitly contradicted on the authority of Lieut. CARR, who heard the conversation, and who states that Gov. WALKER told Mr. HERNDON that he could not vote. We have no doubt that, of the two versions of the story, this is the true one.

What has seemed at this distance the most serious charge against the Governor is the allegation that he permitted and advised the soldiers to vote at Kickapoo,—in direct violation of the Nebraska bill, as well as the Territorial law. The Herald of Freedom gives what is probably a true statement of the case. It will be rem

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.]

The Administration and the Money Crisis.

Governor Walker's Action—The Navy Yard Question—Also for a New-York Post-Office—Miscellaneous.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857.

Governor WALKER requests to have the United States troops detained in Kansas during the coming Winter indicates his fear that their services may be required, and, therefore, that the troubles in the Territory are not altogether at an end. The companies on service in that quarter are urgently needed elsewhere for the protection of the frontier from savage violence, and the Cabinet will cheerfully assent to the Governor's request, unless satisfied by decided evidence of the necessity for so doing. An order, withdrawing the troops from Kansas, had already been prepared before the Governor's letter was received. Mr. WALKER's friends here think he will arrive at Washington before the meeting of Congress.

There is little doubt that the efforts of Hon. J. B. FLOYD to secure employment at the Brooklyn Navy-Yard this Winter, for the fifteen hundred laborers there, will be entirely successful. The report of a Naval Board as to the propriety of altering the Broadsides into a propeller, is little else than a formality. Gentlemen familiar with the subject say there is no doubt of the economy of the improvement, or of its practicability; and, as stated in a recent communication, there is an imperative necessity for the augmentation of our naval force by every judicious means. It is not probable that either of the new steam sloops-of-war will be commenced at New-York, with the exception of the one awarded by contract to Mr. Mayor WEBSTER. Philadelphia will have one, for she has already applied. Another will probably be built at Norfolk; and the other two are likely to be given to the Navy-Yards at Charlestown, Mass., and Kittery, Maine, although the matter is not yet decided.

We have rumors here of a world of private jobbing going on in connection with the purchase of a site for the New-York Post-Office. Postmaster-General BROWN received pressing attentions from a variety of patriotic gentlemen while in your City, some of whom very disinterestedly pointed out several "only" places suitable for the new site, and descanted eloquently upon their striking advantages. These, however, all considered half a million of dollars very little more money than ought to be paid for the site itself. If a million had been appropriated, it is not improbable that the margin remaining would have been just as small. But Mr. BUCHANAN will help Governor BROWN in disappointing all these disinterested speculators. He does not deem it absolutely essential to put the office, at any cost, just where the merchants want it; but is determined to find some location which can be obtained at a moderate price—say a couple of hundred thousand dollars. If the City authorities shall offer a site in the Park for this sum, it will be accepted; but if they do not, the chances are that all efforts to secure a location so favorable as that will be abandoned. There is reason to believe that the speculative designs of outside parties have delayed a suitable and advantageous proposition from the City up to the present time, and that when they become satisfied that there is to be no margin in the purchase price for private aggrandizement, the great difficulty of procuring an advantageous site will be removed. Mr. BUCHANAN will take the matter in his own hands, and is resolutely determined not to favor any considerable increase of the entire cost of site and building, over and above the appropriations already made.

I notice that the Administration is altogether silent in relation to its policy to be pursued with reference to the public expenditures during the present monetary crisis. At first, "contraction" to the narrowest limits was the order of the day; but this policy, it is now seen, must add greatly to the public distress by throwing thousands of poor men out of employ, and, at the same time, reducing the amount of capital in circulation. Congress, during the last session, made appropriations, still unexpended, quite equal to the entire amount of surplus now in the Treasury; and it is a debated question whether it is not better to go on with the work thus ordered—all of it being in reality needed to be done as early as practicable—even though a loan to the Government should be necessary in order to raise the money for current expenses during the temporary falling off of public revenue. If a Government loan would draw from their hoarding places and put in active circulation a few millions of the specie now lying useless in the hands of timid holders, why would it not be advisable to authorize it? Surely that would be far better than adding to the general distress by stopping important public works and throwing workmen out of employ. A public loan is a great bugbear always to partizans—but should not be seriously dreaded by practical men under the existing circumstances.

Although Mr. TANEY is understood to have declined the seat upon the Supreme Bench, made vacant by the resignation of Judge CURTIS, I am inclined to believe that he will be nominated within the next few weeks, and will accept the place, which is far more suited to his tastes and inclinations than are the drudging details of his present position. G.

BY TELEGRAPH.

WASHINGTON, Monday, Oct. 26.

The Administration is evidently recovering from the effects of the monetary panic, and will not materially curtail the expenditures on public works.

It is understood that the Cabinet is not disposed to contract a loan, but favors a resort to Treasury notes, if necessary.

Secretary COBB's opinion, from present evidences, is, that the revenue will increase sufficiently for the current expenses within two or three months.

In the Naval Courts, Lieutenant WHITING's defence has been read, Lieutenant NOLAND's case is commenced, and the cases of Lieutenant MORGAN and Captain RUDDER are still pending. S.

[FROM THE REPORTER FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Monday, Oct. 26.

The Interior Department has received information that a drover lately, while crossing the great plains, unnecessarily killed a woman and a child of the Snake Indians, and also fired at the War Chief of the tribe. In consequence of this the Indians are greatly incensed. As they have heretofore been on tolerably good terms with the whites, and have usually refused to take part with the Mormons, the fear is that they now depart from their friendly policy. The Department will at once take measures to repair, if possible, the mischief thus occasioned.

Nearly eight millions of acres were located with military land warrants under the Act of March 1855, from the 1st of July 1856 to the 31st of August last.

The mails from all points South, as late as due, are to hand.

Appropriated Bullets in the Government Revenue—Work at the Navy-Yards, &c.

Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, Oct. 24.

The Government being justly apprehensive of the occurrence of a deficit in the revenue which is to be relied upon to meet the appropriations for the present fiscal year, has determined to commence at once a reduction of expenditures. Many of the appropriations are of a character that can be legally declared. Orders have been given to discontinue works at the Navy-Yards and arsenals, and the work on the fortifications is to be deferred. The public had called for a more active prevention of these and other public works, as a means for affording employment to thousands of idle and starving laborers during the Fall and Winter.

The Treasury has also closed its doors to further redemption of United States bonds, which to many bankers and merchants, both on this and the other side of the Atlantic, is a grievous disappointment, inasmuch as various and important transatlantic operations have been based upon the supposition that certain United States stocks would be redeemed at fourteen per cent. premium after the 1st of November.

The Government, it is remarked, show by these measures that it is determined not to resort to present a bold front to the country. But it does not look rosy, and for shame sake, only wishes the Government organs would acknowledge it in early instalments of temporary misfortune. The fact is generally admitted that the money, credit, currency, and business and confidence now more completely paralyzed all over the country than at any time since the 9th of August, when the revulsion commenced. The Government is obliged to heed these facts.

On the other hand, the Secretary of the Treasury has determined, as I learn, not to withdraw from the Mint the facilities afforded at his discretion for an advance of coin to the depositors of bullion. It was strongly represented to him that the withdrawal of these facilities, requiring about six or seven millions, would check the coinage and increase the embarrassments of the currency.

The reports in reply to the Treasury Circulars, asking information as to probable importations for the next year or two, are beginning to come in. They concur in representing that the imports of railroad iron, sugars, and all manner of luxuries and fancy goods will be seriously diminished, but that the demand for staple goods of ordinary consumption will continue at the present rate.

But, should the United States Government find its revenue unequal to ordinary and economical expenditures in time of peace—a thing which has happened, and may again happen—they would not, at such a time as this, resort to a loan, but to the issue of Treasury notes. The call for a loan would only serve to straighten the money market, and augment the existing pressure; whereas, the issue of Treasury notes would be an acceptable and useful addition to the currency of the country. But there is really no ground for the belief that the revenue will fall short of necessary expenditure for the present or the next fiscal year. Any deficit in the revenue for the past fiscal year must, of course, be met by a radical reduction of unnecessary expenditures.

OBITUARY.

Crawford, the Sculptor.

The steamer Baltic brought the painful intelligence, which has been anticipated the past two months, of the death of our distinguished countryman, THOMAS CRAWFORD, the Sculptor. He died in London on the morning of the 10th of October, in the 44th year of his age, and we learn that his body will be sent to New-York by the steamer Arago. Mr. CRAWFORD was born in this City, in the year 1813, of Irish parents, and early gave evidence of his artistic instincts. He was a schoolmate of PAGE, the portrait-painter, and they spent the time which ought to have been devoted to Latin and Mathematics in making drawings. Both of these eminent artists were put by their parents to mercantile pursuits, but they soon broke loose from the trammels imposed upon them, and gave themselves up to the course for which Nature had qualified them. CRAWFORD was put with FRAZEE and LAUNITZ to learn the art of modeling and carving in marble, and he made such progress that he was enabled to go to Rome to complete his studies before he was 21. In Rome he had the good fortune to be taken into the studio of THORWALDSEN, who ever after entertained the highest regard for his pupil, and predicted his future greatness. With the true spirit of his country, CRAWFORD was restless while a pupil, and he soon had a studio of his own, where he commenced many of the works which have gained him his reputation. He executed a great number of busts, and was successful in making portraits, but he had a distaste for this kind of work, and aspired to something higher than the modeling of portraits in plaster. The first classical subject which he executed was his famous statue of Orpheus, which remained a considerable time in his studio, in clay, before he received an order to execute it in marble. The order at last came from Boston, and the statue is now in the gallery of the Athenæum in that city. It was owing, we believe, to the exertions of Hon. CHARLES SUMNER, who had seen the model in Rome, that the Boston Athenæum was induced to give the order for its completion. Since then the sculptor has not lacked for commissions, and he has executed many important works of a monumental character, besides a great number of bas-reliefs and busts. The last of his busts, we believe, was one of his wife, which was exhibited in this City a few years ago. Among more recent works were statues of CHANNING, GRAY and BEETHOVEN. The latter cast in bronze, is in the Music Hall in Boston. But his great work was the heroic monument of WASHINGTON for Richmond, which was ordered by the State of Virginia. The equestrian figure of WASHINGTON, cast in bronze, in Munich, is now on its passage to this country.

Mr. CRAWFORD was in Rome twenty-three years, during which time he visited his native City but twice. He married a daughter of the late SAMUEL WARD of this City, whom he leaves a widow, with four children, who are at present living with their mother's sister, Mrs. MAILLARD, at Bordentown, N. J. His only relative is his sister Mrs. CAMPBELL, who was with him at the time of his death. It is nearly two years since the most painful apprehensions were felt for Mr. CRAWFORD, in consequence of the appearance of a malignant tumor under his left eye. He had the benefit of the best surgical skill in Europe, but his disease baffled all human exertion, and he gradually sunk under the disorder. Just previous to his death he had been under the charge of Dr. FELL, a young American physician in London, who has been very successful in his treatment of cancers. But the sculptor's disease was beyond the reach of mortal skill.

CRAWFORD has left behind him many noble works, which will preserve his name among the great artists produced by this country, but he has been cut down just as his fame was ripening, and, if he had lived, he would have justified all that his partial friends expected of him. Among the unfinished orders that he left were some for works to adorn the National Capitol at Washington.

DEATH OF MRS. DR. JAMES RUSH.—The telegraph announces the death of Mrs. Dr. JAMES RUSH, of Philadelphia, at Saratoga, after an illness of two months. This lady has occupied an eminent position in the fashionable world, viewed in its most generous and progressive aspect. Possessed of a masculine intellect and of a princely wealth, and married to one of the most accomplished as well as philosophically toned men in the country, her house, both on her own account and that of her husband, was liberally resorted to by clever people, domestic and foreign. It was not simply that her dwelling in Chestnut-street rivaled European palaces in interior appointments of furniture, plate, china, and the severe Doric elegance of its decorations, but there were a woman and a man within who knew how to converse and how to entertain. Mrs. RUSH was one of the few relics of the old school, the daughter of Mr. RIDGWAY, the rival of GIRARD in acquiring a fortune in commerce. Dr. RUSH is the son of BENJAMIN RUSH, the signer of the Declaration of Independence, and the most celebrated physician of the last century, the fame of whose genius spread over Europe, and whose works were quoted by BYRON and rewarded by ALEXANDER I. of Russia. Of such good intellectual stock, Dr. RUSH maintained its celebrity by his work, "The Philosophy of the Human Voice," which has no rival in the English language for originality and profundity.

It is possible for persons of great wealth, who give parties, balls and receptions, to do a great deal of good by democratic ideas carried into the drawing-room. Mrs. RUSH, who had a horror of snobs and snobbishness, set to work to break down artificial distinctions. She invited whom she chose to her parties, provided their moral standing was good. The son or daughter of a retailer—of the tradesman who, in Europe, ranks along with the domestic—found, if worthy, a warm welcome to her weekly receptions and her balls. At Saratoga she eschewed all parade, and her example might be well followed by the overdoing candidates for social celebrity.

This liberal and catholic view of society was not inspired by any vital piety, as it is understood. Mrs. RUSH never went to church, or claimed to be religious. She was a great reader, a student, a linguist, took lessons on the piano-forte till the summer of her death, and was very exact in filling up the hours of the day properly. A great walker, rain or shine she could be seen in the streets of her native town. Every year she went to Saratoga regularly.

Mrs. RUSH was advanced in years, but, till the period of her last illness, was uninterruptedly seen in society.—Tribune.

Arrival of the Borussia.

The steamship Borussia, from Hamburg on 1st of October, arrived at this port yesterday morning. On the 5th inst., in a fearful hurricane when north of Scotland, the Borussia broke one blade of the propeller and proceeded to Greenock to repair. Finding at that port no dock sufficiently large for her accommodation, she went to Liverpool, from which port she sailed on the 14th. The Borussia lay to off Sandy Hook for 7½ hours waiting for a pilot. She brings 124 first and second cabin, and 329 steerage passengers. Her advices have been anticipated by the arrival of the Baltic.

LIBRARY.

NEW HISTORICAL WORK ON THE REIGN OF THE LATE CZAR NICHOLAS.—A work on the advent to the throne of the CZAR NICHOLAS I., edited by BARON DE KORFF, Secretary of State, Councillor of the Empire and Director of the Imperial Library at St. Petersburg, has recently appeared in the Russian Capital, where it has made considerable sensation. It has been compiled by direction of ALEXANDER II., from notes left by the late Czar, completed and explained by the correspondence of the imperial family, and by official acts which have remained until now buried in the archives of the Empire. Among these materials are an autographic memoir of NICHOLAS himself, a journal kept by his Empress, documents found among the papers of CONSTANTINE, notes left by the late Grand Duke MICHAEL, and papers forwarded by several personages connected with the insurrection of 1825. It thus forms an introduction to the history of the late reign, founded upon authentic documents, the majority of which have been secret up to the present time, and the remainder of which have been known only to a few persons. The French translation is completed, has been revised by BARON DE KORFF himself, and will soon be ready for publication. The German and English translations will be a little later. The Russian edition comprises 236 pages.

COMETS.—A Congress of naturalists has just been held at Bonn. By a letter addressed to the President of this learned assembly, Baron ALEXANDER DE HUMBOLDT announces for next month the publication of the first part of the fourth and and last volume of his Cosmos. The completion of this great work is an event calculated to deeply interest the learned world.

Sugar from the Chinese Cane.

The following letter, addressed to the Commissioner of Patents at Washington, contains information of a good deal of general interest, inasmuch as it shows that granulated sugar may be produced from the Chinese plant recently introduced into this country, and which had already been proved to be of so great value for the molasses it yields as well as for fodder for cattle:

VALLAMBROSA, Montgomery Co., Md., Tuesday, Oct. 20, 1857.

MY DEAR SIR: In addition to the small parcel of sugar I sent by mail, enclosed in my letter of the 3d inst., I to-day present your Bureau with another and better specimen of sugar obtained from the Chinese cane. The first parcel was made by my family in my absence, without note of measure of the liquid or extract or of time. Of the present sample I can speak more learnedly, as I witnessed the operation, from the cutting and and counting of the canes to the granulation and evaporation of the sugar. After topping and blading the canes, five hundred of them were cut in every stage of maturity, most of them very small, with unripe seed; twenty of them taken indiscriminately weighed 33½ lbs. They were hauled in an ox-cart two miles to a neighbor's house, who kindly permitted me to put up a cider mill which had not been used for two years, and was very dry and inefficient. Much of the juice was wasted, as the bed in which the rollers worked had no groove, having a level surface. The cane was passed twice through the mill, and I believe the greater part of the juice remained in the cane, the mill having been so long disused that it could not be keyed up to effect the requisite pressure. We carried home in a barrel five gallons of juice, into which were thrown two teaspoonfuls of slaked lime, dissolved in cold water, about the consistence of cream—according to the suggestion of Mr. BROWN, of the Agricultural Bureau, in the agricultural report of 1856—which rapidly disengaged various matters that were suspended in the liquid and were skimmed off. The greater part of the liquid was then measured and put into a bell-metal preserving kettle holding four gallons, and the remainder into an iron vessel belonging to the cooking-stove, which was inserted in its proper place and the kettle, having no aperture to fit it, was placed over one of the holes of the stove, and did not for that reason boil as rapidly as the other. However, when that in the kettle was boiled down sufficiently, the contents of the smaller vessel were poured into the larger one. In about five hours from the point of ebullition the syrup I present in the pint bottle was dipped out, and the remainder continued boiling about half-an-hour longer, when it was poured into a cold tin pan. The scum that rose was removed at intervals of a few minutes, during the whole operation of boiling, by a perforated tin skimmer. A little over a gallon of delicious syrup was the fruit of our labors, covered with a thick coating of what my family considered very nice taffy. We were in despair about the sugar, and thought we only had syrup, and used it as such for three or four days, after which some particles of crystalized matter disclosed themselves—in all a little more than a teacup-full. The remainder of the syrup, which was filtered through a cloth, produced the articles of sugar and molasses which I herewith present.

So far the process would seem very simple; but the most careful may fail in his experiment. When the liquid is boiled down to about a fifth part of its original measure, or a little more, it must be carefully attended to, frequently dipping out and dripping the liquid over the side of the skimmer, when small globules will appear, and presently the rim of the skimmer will hold, suspended, a quantity of the syrup. About this point the violent ebullition which raises the liquid to the top of the vessel will have greatly subsided, when it should be poured off into another vessel. This last part of the process is the most important and the most difficult of description, and must be chiefly trusted to the practiced eye of the expert. It seemed to me that at this most important point, when the ebullition is most violent, more resembles the making of taffy, the molasses has reached its highest point of boiling. The liquid should not boil over the vessel, which may be prevented at any stage by dipping up part of the liquid and dropping it into the boiler.

Of the small bottle of syrup, of rather better quality than the first mentioned, I will give you the separate history. I had seventy-five of the ripest canes cut and passed three times through the same mill, and into which the lime was put immediately it came from the press, so that it may have disengaged the foreign matters more perfectly than when it was applied after the juice was carried the two miles. This may account for its superior quality. The juice yielded was two and a half gallons, which was boiled in one of the iron vessels of the cooking-stove, and formed the syrup in two hours and a half after it commenced boiling.

I have about two-fifths of an acre in the Chinese sugar-cane, which would not be sufficient inducement to engage in the erection of expensive machinery. I could not even procure the services of a mechanic to put up a common mill and grind my cane. Nor would I have gone to the great expense that some have incurred in erecting furnaces and boilers. I should succeed better, no doubt, with a furnace, as the juice requires concentrated heat and rapid boiling, and my cooking-stove was too open to secure these advantages; hence the longer time it required to obtain the syrup than has been taken by other experimenters.

I did not intend at this time, nor until further experiments had better qualified me for the task, to have troubled you with anything more than a verbal statement, but, as you desire it, I have prepared this imperfect and hasty sketch, hoping it may be in time to furnish some hints to those engaged in the same pursuit. I am your most humble servant, J. W. ANDERSON.

Hon. J. HOLT, Commissioner of Patents.

WORTHY OF CONSIDERATION.—The average annual imports of cotton and woolen manufactures are about fifty millions of dollars; the average annual imports of iron, manufactures of iron and steel are about twenty-five millions of dollars; the average annual imports of manufactures of silk are about twenty-five millions of dollars; total one hundred millions. There is no actual necessity for importing a dollar's worth of cotton and woolen goods, because we manufacture them ourselves; and there is no actual necessity for importing a dollar's worth of iron, because we have enough of that in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia to supply not only ourselves, but the residue of the world; and there is no very pressing necessity to import so largely of manufactures of silk. Without entering into argument, it is merely suggested that if the imports of the articles under these heads were reduced one-half—say fifty millions of dollars—there would be no occasion for panics and financial revulsions. Exporting fifty millions of dollars in gold per annum is a serious matter to any country; we can stand most things, but not that time. Importing fifty millions of gold annually is quite another affair, and this or any other country can stand that to the end of time, as under it there would be no panics and revulsions.—National Intelligencer.

Mexican Soul, made from Mexican wheat, by Mexican mills in Mexico, is sold in Corpus Christi, Texas, to the satisfaction of native gentlemen.

Collector of Taxes.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

With reference to the publication by the Committee of the Corporation of my name among others as a debtor to the City, will you allow me to say: That I held by election of the people the office of Collector of Taxes for the First Ward, from 1835 to 1844, at a stated salary. In 1842, after I had given the required bonds for over $600,000 and commenced the labor of collecting, the Common Council passed a resolution reducing the salaries of all the City Collectors one-fourth. On settlement of my accounts for the year with the Comptroller, I returned the full amount of salary to which I deemed myself justly entitled, notwithstanding said resolution. Suit was afterwards brought against me for the difference, by WILLIS HALL, Esq., Corporation Attorney, and upon argument of the case by my counsel, G. M. SHEA, Esq., Judge EDMONDS decided that the execution of the bond amounted to a contract, which entitled me to the full amount claimed,—whereupon a certificate of final settlement of my accounts and discharge of my bond was given me by the Chamberlain, which was duly filed in the Comptroller's office, where it may possibly yet be found. O. COBB.

NEW-YORK, Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857.

Dreadful Lake Disaster—Loss of the Steamer Reindeer and all on Board.

From the Chicago Times, Saturday.

Masters of vessels which arrived at this port yesterday bring the sad intelligence of the total wreck of the Canadian steamer Reindeer, Captain PATTERSON, and the loss of all but two of the lives on board. The Reindeer ran between this port and Montreal. She cleared from this port on Friday the 16th inst. with 13,000 bushels of wheat, consigned to parties in Montreal. On Monday night, when off Grand Point Au Sauble, on the Michigan shore, she was met by a heavy gale, and Captain PATTERSON, finding that she would not weather it, hoisted all sail and headed for the shore. The moment she touched the ground the steamer commenced going to pieces, and owing to the distance from the beach and violence of the surf, only two persons succeeded in reaching the land. These are supposed to be firemen. All the others were lost. It is thought the steamer had but few if any passengers on board. The officers and crew numbered about 22 men. We are unable to give any of their names, except Captain PATTERSON. The Reindeer was an old boat, both in age and model. She was rated about 150 tons, British, equal to about 200 American. Her value was probably not to exceed $20,000.

The Atlantic's Mails—The Correspondence.

From the States.

The following dispatch was telegraphed to the Postmaster General a few minutes before we went to press:

NEW-YORK, Oct. 24.—It is said that the Atlantic has broken her machinery, and will not be able to sail. Mr. VANDERBILT offers to take the mails and deliver them at Liverpool on the same terms as are allowed to the Collins line. The Vanderbilt has steam up and is waiting your answer. ISAAC V. FOWLER, P. M.

To which the following answer was returned from the Department:

WASHINGTON, 1 o'clock, P. M.—The responsibility of a failure is with Mr. COLLINS and the Navy Department. We have no funds to pay out of.

THE BLUE RIDGE TUNNEL.—In reply to statements that the tunnel through the Blue Ridge at Rockfish Gap, Va., is too small to admit the passage of the cars, and that it will take from three to eighteen months to enlarge it sufficiently, Mr. CAUGHY, the engineer of the work, publishes the following explanation:

"The tunnel is elliptical and closes in towards the top. It is not quite as easy to cut out a regular ellipse through reins of the hardest rock, as to whittle a pine stick; there is always some trimming of projecting points to do in the end. It is not possible to detect, with certainty, the jutting points in the way until a track is laid. Accordingly, as soon as this was done, I caused a frame of the full size of the largest Central Railroad cars to be made, 10 feet wide and 11½ high, and moved it along the track. In a few places its upper corner touched, and we set about removing these points. One-half of this small job is already done. On the level of the track there is ample room for our car and persons to stand on the side while it passes."

CASTLE GARDEN—ARRIVALS OF EMIGRANTS—CHOLERA AT QUARANTINE.—The number of passengers reported arrived at Castle Garden during the year, to October inst., was 146,071. The number in September was 20,187, including 661 American citizens returned from abroad. The number of passenger vessels arrived was 80. The greatest day of arrival in October to the 24th inclusive was 44, bringing 11,789 passengers. Yesterday the ship Louisa Thompson, from Liverpool, landed 649 passengers, and the Mercury 849. Since the 9th inst., four ships, the Rhine, the Dr. Barth, the Johann Stinc and the John Bertram, have arrived from Hamburg, all of which have been quarantined on account of the prevalence of cholera among the passengers. The John Bertram, arrived Sunday, has lost 20 passengers by cholera. One death occurred on Sunday night. The ship will be thoroughly disinfected, and proper precautions taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

LOCAL FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.—The thirtieth anniversary of the New-York and Brooklyn Foreign Missionary Society, auxiliary to the American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions, was held on Sunday evening in the South Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn. The annual address says that the Society is in a flourishing condition, though it is feared that the financial crisis may lessen the receipts of the ensuing year. The demand for the Gospel is increasing, particularly in Turkey and China. From the Treasurer's report it appears that the receipts from April 1, 1856, to July 1, 1857, were $36,338 47, and the expenditures during the same period $38,338 47, leaving the Society out of debt. Rev. Dr. SPRA closed the service with an eloquent sermon.

THE DEPARTURE OF THE DREADNOUGHT FOR IRELAND—A DANCING VESSEL.—The clipper ship Dreadnought, Captain SAMUELS, sailed for Liverpool on Saturday, with the largest cargo of passengers ever known to return on an emigrant ship—330. The Dreadnought has become famous for short passages, which may partly account for her full complement; but the band of music employed on board to "discourse" sweet music, and play the old familiar tunes of home, has had a share of influence, and should have credit. One female passenger, in the hearing of our informant, having secured her passage, told the Captain she was going to "buy a new pair of shoes, as her auld ones were not fit to dance in the whole voyage."

PASSING COUNTERFEIT MONEY.—Two Germans last evening passed at a Broadway hat-store a $10 counterfeit bill on the Gloucester Bank, Mass. The bill is well executed and likely to deceive good judges of money. The vignette represents several warehouses and ships loading and unloading at a dock. On the right there is a representation of a single vessel with ten on it in figures, and underneath a figure X. The parties have not been arrested.

The loss by the burning of the blanket mill of J. W. Spring field, of Lebanon, Me., on the 18th inst. was $11,000, insured for $4,500.

The valuation of taxable property in New-Orleans is $108,000,000.

MARINE COURT—MONDAY, Oct. 26.

Before Judge Daniel Thompson.

Pfeiffer & Tafel vs. Joseph Firkles.—The plaintiffs are lawyers at Stuttgard, and sue the landlord of the Shakespeare Hotel, in this City, to recover about $500. In 1849 it appears that Firkles was indicted in Stuttgard for an insult to the Majesty of the King, for which he was arrested and imprisoned. The plaintiffs became his bail in the sum of 1,000 guilders. He subsequently left his native land and arrived here, and now sets up for defence that it is adverse to the genius of this Republic to admit any European entanglement with citizens of the United States. The Jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiffs for $480 and costs.

LONG ISLAND.

MORTALITY IN BROOKLYN.—The deaths during the week ending Saturday last numbered 87, of which 52 were males and 35 females. Of the whole number 19 were men, 23 boys, 12 women, and 23 girls.

DISEASES.—Marasmus, 11; Convulsions, 8; Consumption, 7; Disease of brain, 7; Inflammation of lungs, 6; Debility, 4; Diarrhœa, 4; Congestion of lungs, 3; Dysentery, 3; Scarlet fever, 3; Stillborn, 3; Casualties, 3; Disease of heart, 3; Dropsy, 3; Croup, 3; Bronchitis, 2; Thrush, 1; Teething, 1; Typhus fever, 1; Nervous fever, 1; Puerperal fever, 1; Paralysis, 1; Apoplexy, 1; Tuberculosis, 1; Inflammation of bowels, 1; Vomiting, 1; Burned, 1; Cholera morbus, 1; Cholera infantum, 1; Cancer, 1.

AGES.—1 year and under, 22; 1 to 2 years, 14; 2 to 5 years, 11; 5 to 10 years, 5; 10 to 20 years, 3; 20 to 30 years, 6; 30 to 40 years, 7; 40 to 50 years, 4; 50 to 60 years, 2; 60 to 70 years, 5; 70 to 80 years, 3; 80 to 90 years, 2.

NATIVITIES.—United States, 63; Ireland, 11; England, 7; Germany, 6.

W. CLEVELAND, Health Officer.

ADMISSIONS TO THE BAR.—At the General Term of the Supreme Court, Kings County, the Examiners appointed to examine applicants for admission to the Bar, reported in favor of admitting the following gentlemen as attorneys and counsellors of the Court:—

John G. Alpone, J. Francis Walton, Gordon Babcock, John T. Barnard, Isaac S. Catlin, Alexander Cornell, John Cooney, John J. Delaney, Walter Edwards, Walter Farrington, Charles Hewett, Frank Jenks, Gilbert R. Lindsay, Henry A. Reeve, William Settle, Jr., Isaac L. Taylor, Charles B. Thornton and Waldo Abbott. J. M. Van Cott, George G. Lemberson and T. H. Rodman, Esqs., Examiners.

HOMŒOPATHIC MEDICAL SOCIETY OF THE COUNTY OF KINGS.—A law was enacted last Winter authorizing the Homœopathic Physicians in each of the several Counties in this State to organize themselves into County Societies; and conferring on them the same powers and privileges that are enjoyed by similar societies organized under the laws which were passed before Homœopathy appeared. After several preliminary meetings, the Homœopathic Society of Kings County have organized. A constitution and by-laws were adopted, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Hanson Rossell, M. D.
Vice-President—S. C. Hanford, M. D.
Recording Secretary—E. C. Mann, M. D.
Corresponding Secretary—E. T. Richardson, M. D.
Treasurer—J. Dunn, M. D.
Censors—P. P. Wells, M. D.; A. B. Ruth, M. D.; S. S. Guy, M. D.

DROWNED.—A deck hand named JEREMIAH DAWSON, employed on one of the Catharine ferry boats, was drowned Sunday evening. As he unhooked the boat he was precipitated into the dock, and life was extinct before assistance could be rendered.

BURGLARIES.—On the night of the 24th inst. house No. 17 Clinton-street, Brooklyn, was entered and robbed of a variety of clothing and $40 in money. House No. 228 Clinton street was entered twice on Sunday night and robbed of gas fixtures, door knobs, &c.

THE LIQUOR SELLERS.—District-Attorney SCHOONMAKER has commenced suits against about three hundred liquor dealers in Brooklyn for selling on Sunday.

☞ The Police of Brooklyn made sixty-three arrests during the forty-eight hours ending yesterday morning.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

NOTICE.
TO THE OLD-FASHIONED RETAILERS.
NO RETAIL JOBBERS NEED APPLY.
BUSHMORE, CONE & CO.,
NOS. 12 AND 14 WARREN-ST.

In order to meet the requirements of the times and satisfy the demands of the masses, have concluded to offer their entire stock of foreign and domestic Dry Goods, at greatly reduced prices, for cash on delivery.

Atlantic, Hadley Falls, Burlington, and other heavy sheetings at 6¼ cents per yard.

Naumkeag S. bleached shirtings at the same price.

15,000 Two-bushel grain-bags, equal to any in the market, at 20 cents; also, a large lot at 18 cents.

Also, a magnificent line of Waldron long shawls, such as have usually sold from $8 to $6 for $5 75.

Also, a magnificent stock of broché and stella shawls.

Also, a superb line of black silks below auction prices.

N. B.—No goods sold at retail under any circumstances.

HARD TIME PRICES
FOR CASH.
LACE CURTAINS

For $4	worth	$6
For $5	worth	$10
For $9	worth	$14
For $12	worth	$18
For $15	worth	$25
For $17	worth	$25

All other curtain materials at great reduction.
KELTY & FERGUSON, No. 501 Broadway.

BONA FIDE REDUCTION.
FOR CASH.
MANY, BALDWIN & MANY,
No. 49 John-st., corner of Dutch.
BUILDERS' HARDWARE.
Porcelain Door Knobs, Locksmiths' and Bellhangers' Materials.
PLATED HINGES, ESPAGNOLETTE BOLTS.
Stubs' and Sheffield Files, &c.

CLOTHING AT REDUCED PRICES,
FOR CASH.
ALFRED MUNROE & CO.,
No. 441 Broadway, between Canal and Grand sts.
In consideration of the present financial panic, have marked down their splendid stock of MEN'S AND BOYS' CLOTHING from 10 to 25 per cent. for cash.

RICH CARPETING — GREAT REDUCTION OF PRICES.—SMITH & LOUNSBERY, No. 456 Broadway, near Grand-st., are now offering their large stock of VELVET, TAPESTRY, BRUSSELS, THREE-PLY and INGRAIN CARPETING, of this FALL'S IMPORTATION, at a great reduction from recent rates.

S. C. HERRING & CO.'S PATENT CHAMPION SAFES.—The numbers greatly increased for past favors, finding that a discriminating public was fully appreciative of their extent that more warerooms were necessary to exhibit all their stock, have enlarged their depôt, by opening an extensive ware and sales room on Broadway, at No. 251, corner of Murray-st., opposite the City Hall. This enlargement of warerooms enables them to make the recent extensive enlargement of their factory, to fill orders in less time than any other establishment in the world. Particular attention is also called to their assortment of safes for private families, which for convenience, ease of access, and economy of space, are unrivaled. Also, all kinds of money chests, great doors and bank vaults. Hall's patent powder-proof locks for banks or store-doors. Jones' patent permutation bank lock, and Gardner's patent letter lock, without key.
S. C. HERRING & CO.,
Nos. 125, 127 and 129 Water-st., and
No. 251 Broadway, cor. Murray-st., New-York.

WAUPUN, Wis., Aug. 24, 1857.
Mr. LAURENS BONNELL, Milwaukie,
Agent for Herring & Co.'s Patent Safes.
DEAR SIR: The Herring Champion Safe that I purchased of you, was in my store at the time it was burned last March. The heat was so great that it melted off the brass plates and knob on the front of the safe. The door was warped so badly from the heat, that I was obliged to cut it open. But I am happy to say to you, the contents of the safe were preserved to my perfect satisfaction.
Y. C. SNOW.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S TRICOPHEROUS is the
BEST AND CHEAPEST ARTICLE
For DRESSING, BEAUTIFYING, CLEANING, CURLING, PRESERVING and RESTORING THE HAIR. Ladies, try it. For sale by all Druggists and Perfumers.

BANK PANIC.
W. T. JENNINGS, PETTUS & CO., No. 221 BROADWAY, owing to the pressure in the money market, have concluded to sell their immense stock of superior ready-made clothing at retail for cash, till 1st December, at 25 per cent. less than wholesale prices.

CLOTHING,
Corner John-st. and Nassau-st.
N. B. COLLINS & CO. are selling their large stock of Winter Clothing, at prices full 10 per cent. below their cost. Call and look before you purchase, if you want good clothing at low prices. N. B. COLLINS & CO.

SEWING MACHINES.—WATSON'S $10 SEWING Machines are now for sale at No. 449 Broadway. These newly patented machines really suitable for family use, and their price places them within the reach of all. Persons intending to purchase a Sewing Machine will do well to examine these household favorites before paying from $50 to $150 for heavy, cumbrous machines. Circulars containing full instructions for persons without previous instruction, accompany each machine. The machines may be obtained by sending to the Principal Office, Greenwich Street.
WATSON, WOOSTER & CO., No. 449 Broadway.

FINE CUTLERY.—PEN, POCKET AND SPORTING Knives. Also, a large variety of other fancy articles, which will be warranted to the purchaser. For sale by J. & S. SAUNDERS, store only at No. 7 Astor House.

SUPERIOR FRUIT TREES, &c.—WM. R. PRINCE & CO., FLUSHING, N. Y.—Priced catalogues of the different departments gratis, at FOWLER & WELLS', No. 308 Broadway; or will be mailed to applicants.

MARRIED

THOMPSON—ALEXANDER.—In Brooklyn, on Saturday, Oct. 24, by Rev. John Wiley, JAMES THOMPSON and ANNE ALEXANDER, both of Donegal, Ireland.

BUDD—IVES.—In Easton, Washington Co., N. Y., on Wednesday, Oct. 14, by Rev. Mr. Gordon, Mr. JOHN C. BUDD, of this City, to M. ARBELIA IVES, of the former place.

VAN ALST—FREAR.—At Ulysses, N. Y., on Wednesday, Oct. 14, by Rev. Lewis Kellogg, Mr. WM. H. VAN ALST, of New-York City, to SERENCCA, daughter of Rufus Frear, Esq., of the former place.

TAFT—HAMAKER.—At White Cloud, Iowa, on Thursday, Sept. 24, WILLIAM H. TAFT to MISS ELIZABETH ANN, daughter of Mr. Henry Hamaker, of White Cloud.

CLARK—NEELS.—At Newburg, N. Y., on Tuesday, Oct. 20, at St. George's Church, by Rev. Dr. John Brown, SERENO B. CLARK, of New-York City, to ANNIE M. NEELS, of Cornwall, N. Y.

CLARK—NEELS.—At Newburg, N. Y., on Tuesday, Oct. 20, at St. George's Chapel, by Rev. John Brown, SERENO B. CLARK, of New-York City, and ANNIE M. NEELS, of Cornwall, N. Y.

DIED

AMUSEMENTS.

BURTON'S NEW THEATRE, BROADWAY.
MISS CUSHMAN.
Last night achieved the most decided success of the season in her wondrous personation of LADY MACBETH.
The representation of Shakspeare's Sublimest Creation relieved by entire novelty, it was received, without the intense interest excited by Miss Cushman's first appearance.
To-day the Lady plays THIS EVENING.
TUESDAY—Shakspeare's tragedy of MACBETH.
Cast with all the power of this full and exciting character.
Mr. Burton, Mr. C. Fisher; Macduff, Mr. Coe; Banquo, Mr. Barrett; Malcolm, Mr. G. Jordan; Lady Macduff, Mrs. Barrett; Malcolm, Mr. G. Jordan; Lady Macduff, Miss Cushman.
The Three Witches, Mesdm. E. Smith, Moore and Mitchell.
The Overture to "Macbeth," by Bishop, will be played.
With the farce of
MR. WIFER'S DENTIST.
Miss CUSHMAN will appear every evening this week.

WALLACK'S THEATRE.
ALTERATION OF TIME.
Doors will open at 6½; commence at 7 o'clock.
TUESDAY, Oct. 27,
The new and highly popular comedy of
PAST AND PRESENT.
And Planché's romantic extravaganza of
THE YELLOW DWARF.
All the favorite artists in the bill.
TO-MORROW will be produced, for the FIRST TIME IN AMERICA,
a Drama of extraordinary interest and striking effect, adapted from the French of Scribe, by Dion Boucicault, entitled
THE INVISIBLE HUSBAND.
New scenery, new costumes, new properties, with other attractive novelties, including the names of Mr. Blake, Mr. Lewis, Mr. Walcot, Miss Gannon, Mrs. Vernon, Miss Ada Clare, and Mr. Rankins, Mr. A. H. Davenport, Mr. Norman.

NIBLO'S GARDEN.
THIS (Tuesday) EVENING, Oct. 27,
The new Grand Spectacle, entitled
ROSZIKA,
Splendid Scenery, Gorgeous Machinery, Startling Transformations, Fairy and Illusions.
Equestrians with the unequaled talent of the celebrated
THE HOME OF THE FAIRY FAMILY; Or, THE POWER OF FRATERNITY.
The Comic Pantomime of
THE SECRET MARRIAGE.
The WONDERFUL TRAVELS in both places.
SIGNORINA ROSINA MASON as Roszika.
Doors open at 6½; to commence at half-past 7 o'clock.
Tickets, 50 cents; Orchestra Seats, (entrance in Crosby-st.), 75 cents.

LAURA KEENE'S NEW THEATRE,
No. 624 Broadway, near Bleecker st.
Complete success and unprecedented success of a new piece.
TUESDAY EVENING, Oct. 27,
an original drama, in three acts, recently performed with immense success at the Haymarket, London, entitled BIRDS OF PREY.
Sir Rainbergen.....Mr. Jordan; De Lalouette.....Mr. Burnett
De Armonville.....Mr. Wheatleigh
De Simarris.....Mr. G. W. Stoddart
Helene.....Miss Keene; Helene.....Miss Annie Taylor
Baptiste.....Miss Wells; Georgina, Miss C. Thompson
To conclude with the favorite farce,
LEND ME FIVE SHILLINGS.
Delightly.....Mr. Jefferson
Doors open at 6½; to commence at 7½ precisely.

BROADWAY THEATRE.
Sole Lessee.....Mr. E. A. Marshall
Stage Manager.....Mr. F. S. Conway
BRILLIANT SUCCESS!
Last week of the great BONZANI TROUPE.
UNEQUALED ATTRACTION.
TUESDAY EVENING, Oct. 27, 1857,
the second act of the splendid production, entitled
FAUST.
To be followed by the last new and powerful novelty, the grand fairy Ballet, composed by Sig. D. Ronzani, entitled
IL CAVALLO D'ORO, OR THE GOLDEN HORSE,
supported by the entire resources of the grand Ballet Troupe, under the direction of Sig. D. Ronzani and Sig. C. Cecchetti.

BOWERY THEATRE.
Lessee and Proprietor.....Mr. E. Eddy
Boxes and Parquette, 50 cents; Pit.....12 cents
TUESDAY EVENING, Oct. 27,
Will be acted Buckstone's drama of
GREEN BUSHES; Or, IRELAND AND AMERICA 100 YEARS AGO.
To be preceded by the great nautical drama of
LAFITTE, THE PIRATE OF THE GULF.
To conclude with the extravaganza of the KING OF CLUBS.

ANNIVERSARY FESTIVAL
of the
AMERICAN JUVENILE TEMPERANCE SOCIETY,
To be held at the City Assembly Rooms, on WEDNESDAY EVENING, Oct. 28, 1857. The entertainment will consist of a Sociable Tea, which will be spread on a hundred tables, each accommodating twelve persons—one lady presiding at each table. Considering the benevolent object of the Society, the Harmonic Cornet Club have kindly volunteered their services, and furnish the instrumental music. Bodies which the well-known quartette, "The Ancient Ballads," also volunteered, will sing several of the pieces of which have been written for the occasion, immediately after tea, and some will be delivered by several distinguished speakers, who have engaged to be present.
Tickets (67 cts) can be had of any of the following Ladies:—Mrs. J. REVELL, No. 69 East-Broadway; Mrs. F. STEVENS, No. 24 Bond-st.; Mrs. J. HURTON, No. 163 East 23d-st.; Mrs. COX, No. 180 Grand-st.; Mrs. S. H. WALLS, No. 27 East 21st-st., Committee, or at the Office of the Society, No. 201 Third-av.

EMPIRE HALL, NO. 596 BROADWAY.
EVERY EVENING, at 8 o'clock, and WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, at 3 o'clock.
DR. KANE'S
ARCTIC VOYAGES.
Magnificently illustrated by a GRAND SERIES OF PAINTINGS, portraying the SUBLIME YET AWFUL GRANDEUR OF THE POLAR REGIONS, from Sketches furnished by the late Dr. Kane and officers attached to the late Expedition. Dr. Kane's celebrated Dog ETAH, the only survivor of more than 200 used during their journeyings, Dr. Kane's Arctic Dresses, Esquimaux Rifle, Banner of the Sledge "Faith," Peacock Flag, and other interesting relics of the exhibition for view daily.
Admission 25 cents; children half-price.

CRYSTAL PALACE—THE GREAT FAIR.
ELEVENTH GRAND CONCERT
BY DODWORTH'S FULL CORNET BAND,
THIS (Tuesday) EVENING, Oct. 27,
PROGRAMME.
PART I.
1. Albert March.....Kuhner.
2. Overture—"Les Diamons de la Couronne".....Auber
3. Fantasia from "Il Lombardi".....Donizetti.
4. Hosanna from "Le Prophete".....Meyerbeer.
5. Cavatina from "Nebuchadnezzar".....Verdi.
6. Quicksteep—"Love Not".....Blackley.
PART II.
7. March du Sacre.....Meyerbeer.
8. Selections from "Lucia di Lammermoor".....Donizetti.
9. Quicksteep—Deniller.....Freiding.
10. Serenade.....Schubert.
11. Hunter's Chorus from "Cinderella".....Rossini.
12. Rosalie Schottisch.....Dodworth.
No extra charge for admission.

WILL SHORTLY CLOSE,
THE GREAT FAIR
OF THE
AMERICAN INSTITUTE, AT THE
CRYSTAL PALACE.
The limited period for which the GRAND EXPOSITION was announced, is rapidly terminating. These features of exhibiting the latest, most interesting, and instructive
NATIONAL INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION that ever occurred on this side of the Atlantic, should do so without delay.
All the prominent extra features will be continued, as usual, until the final closing.
DODWORTH'S CORNET BAND will perform EVERY EVENING, and on TUESDAY and FRIDAY EVENINGS will give a GRAND CONCERT to Programme.
Admission to the whole, only 25 cents.
Stages will be found at all the principal down-town ferries, and in the main avenues, when you within a block of the Palace. The 6th-av. cars, from Broadway, Vesey and Canal sts., run directly to the door.

"THE HORSE FAIR."
ROSA BONHEUR'S
Great picture of the HORSE FAIR
is now on exhibition at the Galleries of
WILLIAMS, STEVENS, WILLIAMS & CO.,
No. 263 Broadway.
Admittance, 25 cents.
Hours of exhibition from 8½ A. M. to 6½ P. M.

STRANGERS SHOULD NOT FAIL TO SEE
The great Dusseldorf Gallery of Paintings, Powers' Greek Slave, the Adoration, the Fairies, are each worth the price of admission. Open day and evening—No. 548 Broadway.

POWERS' GREEK SLAVE, MARTYRDOM OF HUSS.
Diana and her Nymphs are a few among the hundred wonderful works of art on exhibition at the Dusseldorf Gallery—day and evening—No. 548 Broadway.

BARNUM'S MUSEUM.—HAVE YOU SEEN THE Beautiful AQUARIA? or the CARLO FAMILY in their comic comicomime, or the DARING ASCENSION ON A WHEEL? THIS AFTERNOON, at 3 o'clock, the Welsh Nightingale in her choice ballads; daring ascension on a wheel by MASTER CARLO, and dances, feats of facilities, &c., by the Carlo Family. THIS EVENING, the Comic Nativities in the LADIES' DRAWING ROOM, and the Carlo Family in the ORGAN OF THE WOOD. Admission 25 cents; children under 10, 12 cents.

NEVER BEFORE EXHIBITED IN AMERICA.—The Physiological and Anatomical Museum of Dr. Kahn, Chambers Building, No. 538 Broadway; 400 models of the most finished anatomical structure. Lectured to gentlemen daily at 12, 3 and 8 o'clock; ladies, Professor, except Tuesdays, when gentlemen are admitted from 10 to 2, and lectured to by a scientific and experienced lady. Admission 25 cents.

ORGAN EXHIBITION.—THE GREAT ORGAN, built by JARDINE & SON, of the Musical Fund Hall, Philadelphia, will remain on exhibition at No. 1 Tryon Row, THIS DAY, at the Factory, No. 100 White-st., corner of Centre. The public are respectfully invited.

AMERICAN EXHIBITION OF BRITISH Art is now open in the new galleries of the National Academy of Design, one door from Broadway, at 548 st., from 8 A. M. to 5 P. M., and from 7 to 10 P. M. Admission 25 cents. Season tickets 50 cents.

MUSIC AT HALF PRICE—AT WATERS', No. 333 Broadway, and all kinds of musical merchandise at equally low prices; pianos and melodeons at lower prices than ever before offered in this market. Pianos and melodeons to rent, and rent allowed on purchase. Pianos tuned, repaired, and removed to the best style.
JOHN YOUNG, Manager.

AMUSEMENTS.

NIBLO'S SALOON.
THIS (Tuesday) EVENING, Oct. 27,
FREEZOLINI, THALBERG, VIEUXTEMPS.
Admission One Dollar; seats secured without extra charge.
The following unrivalled combination of talent will appear:
Mlle. ERMINIE FREZZOLINI, in her first appearance in the concert room.
Sig. THALBERG, HENRI VIEUXTEMPS,
Sig. LABOCETTA, Sig. GASSIER,
Sig. ROCCO, SIGNOR KLETZKER.
The programme will consist of twelve brilliant pieces.
NOTICE.—Particulars of the programme will be found in the New-York advertisement, it being exactly the same, including the "Lombardi" by Frezzolini, Gassier, Labocetta, Thalberg and Vieuxtemps.
The price of admission will be One Dollar to all parts, without extra charge for seats. The sale of seats for the Brooklyn concert will commence on Wednesday, Oct. 28, at Hoag's book store, No. 142 Atlantic-st., Brooklyn; Fox's music store, No. 215 Fulton-st., Brooklyn; and at Hall's store, No. 547 Broadway, New-York.

THALBERG AND VIEUXTEMPS'S LAST CONCERTS.
THURSDAY, Oct. 29, in Brooklyn.
FRIDAY, Oct. 30, in New-York.
The programme will be the same in both concerts.
Notice.—The sale of seats for
The Brooklyn concert commences.....Wednesday, Oct. 28
The New-York concert commences.....Thursday, Oct. 29

MISS CUSHMAN.—SPECIAL NOTICE—BURTON'S.—A Shakespearean play and an original drama are in active rehearsal—Miss CUSHMAN will appear in each of these pieces—and the production of these novelties will forbid any repetition of the present performances, notwithstanding their unabated attraction. The public are invited to secure their seats at once.
WEDNESDAY—Miss Cushman as Lady Macbeth.
THURSDAY—By desire, Tisbe, in the great play of the Actress of Padua.
FRIDAY—As Romeo, Juliet, Miss Susan Denin.
SATURDAY—As Meg Merrilies in Guy Mannering.
OBSERVE.—As no certificate of seats is transferable, speculators' tickets purchased in the street will not be admitted.

FURDY'S NATIONAL THEATRE,
CHATHAM-ST.
Sole Lessee, Proprietor and Manager.....A. H. Furdy
Dress Circle, 25 cents; Pit, 12 cents; Orchestra Circle, 50 cents; Private Boxes, 2d Circle, $4 exclusive, or $1 each person. Doors open at 6½; curtain will rise at 7 precisely. THIS EVENING, Oct. 27, will be acted
THE LORD OF THE ISLES.
WARNING HAND.
YANKEE COURTING.

BOARDING.

BOARDING.—A SMALL PRIVATE FAMILY, occupying a large and commodious house in a desirable location in the upper part of the City, would be happy to accommodate a gentleman and his wife, or a small family for the Winter, where all the comforts and privileges of a home will be found. The house is new, and completely furnished with all the modern improvements, and conducted by myself and family, with the utmost care of the City. Unexceptionable references given and required. Address Box No. 1,622, Post Office.

BOARDING.—A PRIVATE FAMILY [illegible] in a first-class house near Broadway, [illegible] to reduce their expenses for the Winter, [illegible] furnished room, one small floor, [illegible] water, gas, furnace, bath-room, and all the comforts [illegible] to a gentleman and his wife or in one or two [illegible] men on moderate terms. Satisfactory references required. Address F., Box No. 2,976.

BOARDING.—A SUITE OF ROOMS AND TWO or three single rooms with board, lately occupied at No. 498 West 16th-st.; the house is perfect first-class; it was leased by its present tenant on 1 May, by whom it has been renewed and furnished with every comfort and convenience. Small children not received, and those who only wish low-price board, please not apply.

BOARDING.—A PRIVATE FAMILY, RESIDING in 14th-st., in a first-class house, would let, with board, their second story, consisting of three finished rooms, to a gentleman and wife. Address HOME, Box No. 2,397 Post Office.

BOARDING.—A PLEASANT PARLOR AND BEDROOM may be obtained at MRS. AUSTIN'S, No. 14 East 16th-st., near Union-square. Also, rooms for gentlemen.

BOARDING.—SECOND FLOOR TO LET, WITH board, at No. 64 Madison-av., near 27th-st. Also rooms for single gentlemen.

BOARD IN BROOKLYN.—A PRIVATE FAMILY, occupying a pleasant and commodious house, in a respectable neighborhood, ten minutes' walk from 8 o'clock or Hamilton Ferry, and half-block from Greenwood cars, desire a gentleman and his wife to share in the comforts of home would be afforded in the family circle. References required and given. Address C. G., Brooklyn Post Office.

BOARD IN BROOKLYN—WITH USE OF A handsomely furnished parlor and large bed-room on second floor, gas, &c., in a quiet neighborhood near the ferry. No other boarders taken. This is very desirable for a lady and gentleman or two gentlemen. Terms moderate. Apply at No. 16 Sackett-st., near Hicks.

BOARD IN BROOKLYN.—GENTLEMEN WITH office, or single gentlemen, can be accommodated with rooms and board in a private family. Terms good by applying at No. 70 Sackett-st., corner of Jay, Brooklyn. References required.

BOARD IN BROOKLYN—FROM EIGHT TO ten minutes' walk to Fulton and Wall-st. Ferries; handsome rooms with board; in a desirable neighborhood. Terms moderate. No. 46 Concord-st.

BOARD IN BROOKLYN.—TWO SINGLE GENTLEMEN can be accommodated with board in a private family at No. 11 Tillary-st., near Fulton.

BOARD IN BROOKLYN.—NO. 102 ATLANTIC-st., near Clinton-st., is a private family. Convenient to Wall-st. and South Ferries.

BOARD WANTED.—AN ENGLISH LADY IS desirous of obtaining board with a family, where her [illegible] would be considered an equivalent. Most satisfactory City references. Address M., care of Gelb & Jackson's Music Store, Broadway, second door from 14th-st.

ROOM WANTED.—A PLEASANT FURNISHED room with partial board where there is gas, bath and fire; private family preferred. Address L. B. L., Times Office, stating terms and locality. The best of reference given.

BOARD WANTED—EITHER IN A PRIVATE family or hotel, for a family of five, in a small town or village in which are good schools and an Episcopal church. The location must be accessible by railroad within two hours' ride of the City. Accommodations must be good and terms reasonable. Address, stating terms, SKIDMORE, Union-square Post-Office, New-York.

BOARD WANTED—A SUITE OF FURNISHED rooms on the second floor, by a gentleman, wife, child and nurse, for which a liberal compensation will be paid. Dinner at 6 o'clock. Location between 6th and 8th sts., 2d and 6th avs. Unexceptionable references given. A private family preferred. Address J. D. M., Box No. 1,323, Post Office.

NO. 20 LAMARTINE-PLACE, WEST 20th-st.—Three rooms, on the second floor, furnished or unfurnished, with board, separate or together; also, two large parlors on first floor; gas and Croton water all through the house, and every improvement at hand. The location is pleasant, and connected by cars and stages with business parts of the City.

143 MADISON-STREET.—A COUPLE OF single gentlemen can be accommodated with furnished rooms, with or without board, on moderate terms. Gas and bath in the house. Family private. References required and given.

TO LET TO GENTLEMEN ONLY—THREE pleasant rooms, with or without partial board, in a small private family of young persons. Location very pleasant, close to St. John's Park. Apply at No. 3 North Moore-st., second door from Hudson-st.

HORSES KEPT IN THE COUNTRY.—The subscriber will take a number of horses for the Winter on a shorter time to keep with or without grain, as may be agreed upon; upon terms reasonable; best City references as to performance, will be given. Apply to STEPHEN VALENTINE & SON, corner Market and Cherry sts., or by letter to J. S. UNDERHILL, Buskram, L. I., or to GEO. JONES, at the office.

TO PUBLISHERS.—COMPOSITION REDUCED to ten cents per [illegible]. The "Combination Type" System offers a saving of 20 per cent in the cost of type-setting. This and another system of facilities enable him still further to reduce his terms. Specimens of the "Combination" and prices given to each customer at the office, or by mail. Publishers are invited to compare prices and examine the work.
J. T. PODITZ, No. 16 William-st., New-York.

AUCTION SALES.

HENRY H. LEGGE & CO., Auctioneers.
BY HENRY H. LEGGE & CO.—EXTRA.
THURSDAY, Oct. 29,
At 10 o'clock, at the Auction Rooms (up stairs),
ASSORTED STOCK
of $75,000 WORTH
of
SEASONABLE READY-MADE CLOTHING, PIECE GOODS, &c.
Fine Broadcloth, Doeskins, Blue and other Sack, Frock, Dress and Walking COATS.
Cassimeres, Satinets and Tweeds, PANTALOONS, in great variety.
Cloth, Silk, Satin, Velvet, Satinet, Flock and other VESTS.
CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, SATINS, TRIMMINGS, LINENS, &c.
Also, all the Store and office Fixtures, Counters, Desks, Iron Safes, &c.
Terms cash. No credit sales.
All goods to be cleared out day after sale.
By order of HENRY HARE and H. HORRISON, Assignees.

EXTENSIVE SALE OF FIRST-CLASS [illegible] Furniture, Costly Chandeliers, large pier and mantel mirrors, portable lace curtains, with [illegible] rosewood sofas, richly carved [illegible] tapestry, complete, gilt carved cornices, with [illegible] furniture.
[illegible] Rosewood parlor suites, marble-top centre, pier and [illegible] tables, secretary and bookcases, rosewood pianos, [illegible] and three ply carpets, sofas, chairs, [illegible] bureaus, hair mattresses, pillasses, engravings, paintings, chairs, cooking and parlor stoves, &c. &c. Together with a large assortment of goods too numerous to mention in advertisement. Catalogues now ready.
HENRY H. LEGGE & CO., Auctioneers, Office No. 21 Nassau-st.

WILL SELL AT AUCTION, ON WEDNESDAY, Oct. 28, at 10½ o'clock, at No. 148 West 35th-st., between 5th and 6th avs., genteel household furniture consisting of Brussels carpets, rosewood parlor furniture, covered in crimson and gold, silk brocatel do., mahogany suite covered in hair cloth, divans, lounges in silk brocatel, centre tables, lace curtains and cornices, rosewood French bedsteads, mahogany and black walnut do., ingrain and three-ply carpets, spring in drawers, mirrors, hair mattresses, feather beds, &c.; comforters and blankets, China and glass ware; kitchen furniture, with which the sale will commence.
C. L. SMITH, Auctioneer.

LARGE SALE OF SPLENDID HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE.—THIS DAY, Oct. 27, at 10 o'clock, C. L. SMITH will sell all the splendid furniture in house No. 122 West 18th-st., without reserve, to close assignment masterly, ff. Debonvitt, consisting of 3 elegant parlor suites, rosewood, stone-force, inlaid with pearl and fully warranted; silk frame, mirror, bureau, chairs, &c., and a large assortment of bedroom and kitchen furniture, glass ware and crockery, &c. Persons in want of furniture will do well to attend, as the house is splendidly furnished; 30 spring and hair mattresses, rosewood and mahogany bureaus, sofas, &c.
J. D. HOLBROOK, Auctioneer.

BY A. BROWN, STORE NOS. 102 AND 104 MAIDEN-LANE.—THIS DAY, Oct. 27, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the salesroom, 200 cases and p. kages crockery, China, glass and earthen ware, from the shelves, in lots to suit the City and country trade. Also, fine iron safes. Goods packed when required by experienced packers.
JAMES BRADSHAW, Auctioneer.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 28, AT 10½ O'CLOCK, at No. 119 Barclay-st., Bridge-st., A general assortment of plain furniture, mahogany sofa, chairs, tables, extension do., bedsteads, mattresses, beds, bedding, carpet, oil-cloths, cane matting, bureaus, washstands, toilet crockery, gas chandeliers and brackets, stoves, &c., all in good order, to be sold free of charge.
FRANK H. LEGGE & CO., Auctioneers, office 21 Nassau-st.

WILL SELL AT AUCTION ON TUESDAY, Oct. 27, at 12 o'clock, in front of the store No. 23 Nassau-st., one lot of fine gray ponies, warranted sound and kind, and to be sold without reserve, on a credit of 4 months, good indorsed notes.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT ON SATURDAY, the 31st day of October instant, at 12 o'clock at noon, I shall sell at public auction, at the Merchants' Exchange, in the City of New-York, all the property and effects of the firm or late firm of AYWOOD & CO. Said assets will be sold in lots to suit purchasers, and in small lots in all cases in which the property and its condition will permit.
Said assets consist of Boxes of various railroad Stocks of various railroads, Stocks of various Banks, County Bonds, Notes and Bills receivable, Accounts, claims against individuals, Cash, Furniture, Fixtures, &c., which will be sold without reserve to the highest bidder for the cash.
EDWARDS PIERREPONT,
New-York, Oct. 22, 1857. Assignee of Aywood & Co.

AUCTION SALES.

ADRIAN H. MULLER, Auctioneer, Office No. 56 Wall-st.
SPECIAL SALE OF STOCKS AND BONDS,
THIS DAY, at 12½ o'clock, at the Merchants' Exchange.
$5,000 St. Louis County (Missouri) 6 per cent. Bonds, 1919, hypothecated.
$10,000 Wheeling City 6 per cent. Bonds, 1919.
$4,000 Milwaukee and Horicon Railroad 8 per cent. Convertible Sinking Fund Bonds.
30 shares American Express Co.....$100 each
5 shares Kings County Fire Insurance Co.....$100 each
10 shares North River Insurance Co.....$100 each
20 shares Nassau Fire Insurance Co.....$100 each
20 shares Rome Fire Insurance Co.....$100 each
50 shares Continental Insurance Co.....$100 each
Next regular sale TO-MORROW, Oct. 28.
Regular sales WEDNESDAYS and SATURDAYS.
Special sales on all other days.

FOR EUROPE.

THE NEW-YORK AND LIVERPOOL UNITED STATES MAIL STEAMERS.—The ships composing this line are ARAGO, Capt. Gerrit Sherman.
ARIEL, Capt. Thomas Comstock.
The sailing days are as follows:
From New-York.....From Liverpool.
Saturday, June 20.....1857.....Wednesday, June 24.....1857
Saturday, July 4.....1857.....Wednesday, July 8.....1857
Saturday, July 18.....1857.....Wednesday, July 22.....1857
Saturday, Aug. 1.....1857.....Wednesday, Aug. 5.....1857
Saturday, Aug. 15.....1857.....Wednesday, Aug. 19.....1857
Saturday, Aug. 29.....1857.....Wednesday, Aug. 26.....1857
Saturday, Sept. 12.....1857.....Wednesday, Sept. 16.....1857
Saturday, Sept. 26.....1857.....Wednesday, Oct. 7.....1857
Saturday, Oct. 10.....1857.....Wednesday, Oct. 21.....1857
Saturday, Oct. 24.....1857.....Wednesday, Nov. 4.....1857
Saturday, Nov. 7.....1857.....Wednesday, Nov. 11.....1857
Saturday, Nov. 21.....1857.....Wednesday, Nov. 25.....1857
Saturday, Dec. 5.....1857.....Wednesday, Dec. 9.....1857
Saturday, Dec. 19.....1857.....Wednesday, Dec. 23.....1857
Steamers will leave Boston for Liverpool on the days following the departure from New-York, as follows:
Arago, Wednesday, Oct. 28.
Ariel, Wednesday, Nov. 11.
E. K. WINWRIGHT & CO., Paris.
The owners of these ships will not be accountable for gold, silver, jewelry, precious stones, or other valuables, unless bills of lading are signed therefor and the value thereof therein expressed.
For freight or passage apply to
E. K. COLLINS, No. 56 Wall-st., New-York.
BROWN, SHIPLEY & CO., Liverpool.
SHIPLEY, WINWRIGHT & CO., No. 32 Austin Friars, London.
E. K. WINWRIGHT & CO., Paris.
The owners of these ships will not be accountable for gold, silver, jewelry, precious stones, or other valuables, unless bills of lading are signed therefor, and the value thereof expressed therein.

THE BRITISH AND NORTH AMERICAN ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS.
Sailing between NEW-YORK AND LIVERPOOL.
Cabin Passage.....$120
Second Cabin Passage.....70
FROM BOSTON TO LIVERPOOL.
Cabin Passage.....$110
Second Cabin Passage.....60
Sail from Boston on the mail of Halifax.
ARABIA, Stone, leaves N. York Wednesday, Oct. 14.
NIAGARA, Wickman, leaves Boston Wednesday, Oct. 21.
ASIA, leaves N. York Wednesday, Oct. 28.
EUROPA, Leitch, leaves Boston Wednesday, Nov. 4.
PERSIA, Judkins, leaves N. York Wednesday, Nov. 11.
CANADA, Shannon, leaves Boston Wednesday, Nov. 18.
ARABIA, Stone, leaves New-York Wednesday, Nov. 25.
Berths not secured until paid for.
An experienced surgeon on board.
The owners of these ships will not be accountable for gold, silver, jewelry, specie, jewelry, Precious Stones or Metals, unless bills of lading are signed therefor and the value thereof therein expressed. For freight or passage apply to
E. K. CUNARD, No. 4 Bowling-green.

FOR SOUTHAMPTON AND HAVRE.—THE United States Mail Steamer ARAGO, E. LUCAS, Commander, will leave for Havre, touching at Southampton to land the mail and passengers, on SATURDAY, Nov. 14, at 12 o'clock, from Pier No. 37, North River, foot of Canal-st.
PRICE OF PASSAGE.
Cabin.....($120) Second Cabin.....$70
This ship has five water-tight compartments, including engines; in fact, in the event of collision or stranding, any two of them, and the pumps being free, ensure the safety of the vessel and passengers saved.
Cargo not wanted during the voyage should be sent on board the day before sailing, marked "Below."
No freight will be taken after Thursday, Oct. 15. For freight or passage, apply to
WM. K. DRAYTON, Agent, No. 7 Broadway.

FOR LIVERPOOL.—THE UNITED STATES Mail steamship BALTIC, J. J. Comstock, Commander, will depart with the United States mails for Liverpool, on SATURDAY, Nov. 7, at 12 o'clock noon, from the foot of Canal-st.
No. ... freight or passage, having unequaled accommodations for elegance and comfort, apply to EDWARD K. COLLINS, No. 56 Wall-st.
Passengers will please be on board at 11 o'clock A. M. Passengers must pass through the Post-Office; any others will be rejected.
NOTICE.—The steamers of this line have improved water-tight compartments.
Care has been spared to make the steamers of this line in all respects as good as new, and the thorough repairs given them proves their mode of structure to be perfection.
Therefore the regular built ships for this line will perform the entire service.

NOTICE.—THE U. S. MAIL STEAMSHIP ATLANTIC will sail for Liverpool THIS DAY, Oct. 27, from her berth foot of Canal-st.

FARE REDUCED TO SOUTHAMPTON AND HAVRE.—The magnificent steamship VANDERBILT, EDWARD HIGGINS commander, 3,360 tons, will sail
From NEW-YORK for SOUTHAMPTON & HAVRE.
Saturday.....Oct. 24
Saturday.....Dec. 5
From SOUTHAMPTON and HAVRE for NEW-YORK.
Saturday.....Nov. 14
Saturday.....Dec. 26
FRICE OF PASSAGE—First cabin, $100; second cabin, $50. Specie delivered in London and Paris. For freight or passage apply to
A. D. TORRANCE, Agent,
No. 5 Bowling-green, New-York.
Letters for England and Europe, prepaid, 40 cents each half ounce, (by inclosure of postage stamps if from other cities,) will be received at No. 5 Bowling-green, New-York, up to 11½ o'clock on the morning of sailing.

STEAM BETWEEN NEW-YORK AND GLASGOW.—EDINBURG, 2,500 tons, WILLIAM CUNNING, Commander; NEW-YORK, 2,100 tons, ROBERT CRAIG, Commander; GLASGOW, 1,800 tons, JOHN DUNCAN, Commander. The Glasgow and New-York Steamship Company intend sailing these new and powerful steamers from New-York to Glasgow direct, as follows:
FROM NEW-YORK. FROM GLASGOW.
Edinburg, Saturday, Oct. 31, 12 noon. Glasgow, Tue'y, 27
Glasgow, Wed'day, Nov. 25, 12 noon. New-York, Nov. 14
New-York, Wed'day, Dec. 16, 12 noon. Edinburg, Dec. 2
Edinburg, Wed'day, Dec. 30, 12 noon. Glasgow, Dec. 16
RATES OF PASSAGE:
First class, $110; third class, found with cooked provisions, $30. An experienced surgeon attached to each steamer. For freight or passage apply to JAMES RADBURN, Agent, No. 17 Broadway, New-York City bills or gold only received for passage.

GREAT REDUCTION ON FARE TO EUROPE.
First Cabin.....$80 Second Cabin.....$50
In the fast clear paddle-wheel steamships ARIEL, 2,000 tons, C. D. LUDLOW, Commander, and NORTH STAR, 2,000 tons, P. R. LEFEVRE, to sail from pier No. 3 North River, at noon precisely, carrying the United States Mails, viz:
Leave New-York for Southampton, Havre and Bremen. | Bremen for Southampton. | Southampton for New-York.
Ariel, N. Star, Sat'y, Oct. 31 | Saturday, Oct. 31 | Wednesday, Nov. 4
N. Star, Sat'y, Oct. 31 | Saturday, Nov. 28 | Wednesday, Dec. 2
These steamers touch at Havre. Specie delivered in London and Paris. For freight or passage apply to D. TORRANCE, Agent, No. 5 Bowling-green, New-York.

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIP ASIA.—FOR LIVERPOOL.—The ASIA E. G. Lott, Commander, will sail from the stream with the Mails and passengers for Europe, on WEDNESDAY, the 28th inst. A steamer will leave the Company's Dock, at Jersey City, with the passengers at 10½ and 11½ o'clock A. M. The PERSIA will sail Nov. 11. E. CUNARD, No. 4 Bowling-green.

FOR THE SOUTH.

FOR PORTSMOUTH, PETERSBURG AND RICHMOND.—The U. S. Mail steamship ROANOKE, Capt. THOMAS SKINNER, will leave on WEDNESDAY, 28th inst., at 3 o'clock P. M., from Pier No. 13 North River. She will arrive at Portsmouth the next afternoon, and at Petersburg the following morning. Passengers for the South will proceed directly on by the great Southern Mail Line. Those for Richmond will arrive there early on Friday morning. Travelers will find this the cheapest, pleasantest and most expeditious route. Passage and freight, with stateroom, to Norfolk, $5; to Petersburg and Richmond, $10. Apply to LUDLAM & PLEASANTS, No. 82 Broadway.

FOR SAVANNAH AND FLORIDA.—UNITED STATES MAIL LINE.—The splendid steamship AUGUSTA, Captain M. J. Woodhull, will leave for Savannah on SATURDAY, Oct. 31, from Pier No. 4, N. R., at 4 o'clock P. M. precisely. Bills of lading signed only on board. For freight or passage, apply to SAMUEL MITCHELL, No. 13 Broadway.
The steamship FLORIDA, Capt. Isaac Gaswell, will succeed the above and leave on WEDNESDAY, Nov. 4.

STEAMBOATS.

FARE REDUCED ACCORDING TO THE TIMES.
FARE $2 50 TO BOSTON.
VIA
NEWPORT, BRISTOL and PROVIDENCE.
FARE:
| | Cabin. | Deck.
New-York to Boston | $2 50 | $2 25
New-York to Providence | 1 50 | 1 50
New-York to Bristol | 1 50 | 1 00
New-York to Newport | 1 50 | 1 00
State Rooms with two Berths $1. Bridal State Rooms $2. No charge for Berths.
The superior and substantial one-going steamer GOVERNOR, CHARLES DERRICK, Commander, will leave Pier No. 27 North River, foot of Robinson-st., New-York, every TUESDAY, THURSDAY and SUNDAY, at 4 o'clock P. M. A baggage-master on board will receive and convey passengers to Boston. On Saturdays the Governor will lie at her dock and receive freight, and the same will be ready for delivery early Monday morning. For further information, apply to the Captain, on board, or to GEORGE T. STANLEY, at the Office on the Dock.

HARLEM AND NEW-YORK.—STEAMER HYLVAN SHORE leaves Harlem at 6, 8, and 10½ A. M.; and 12, 2, 4, 6 P. M. Pock-ship at 7 and 9½ A. M.; 1½, 3½ and 5½ P. M. Landings 126th-st. and 10th-st.-av. at 7 A. M. and 9½ P. M.

TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT PAIN by a process of vitalizing the gums. (entirely different from freezing.) I have used this process for the last three years, and have extracted over twenty thousand teeth with perfect success. References given if required. E. SKINNER, Dentist, No. 207 Fulton-st., Brooklyn.

RAILROADS.

NEW-YORK AND ERIE RAILROAD.—SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.—On and after Monday, June 8, 1857, Trains will leave this depot of the Company, foot of Duane-st., as follows:
7:45 A. M.—Mail Train, for Dunkirk and Buffalo, stopping at all stations north of Piermont.
11 A. M.—Accommodation Train, for Goshen and way stations.
3:30 P. M.—Express Mail Train, for Dunkirk and Buffalo, stopping at Piermont, Turners, Otisville, Middletown, Port Jervis, Deposit, Hancock, Susquehanna, Binghamton, Owego, Ithaca, Watkins, Penn Yan, Dansville, Mt. Morris, Portageville, Olean, Salamanca, Dunkirk and Buffalo.
5:30 P. M.—Piermont Train, stopping at all stations.
6 P. M.—Newburgh Train, stopping at all stations.
7:30 P. M.—Goshen Train, stopping at all stations.
NIGHT TRAINS.
2:30 A. M.—Express Mail Train for Dunkirk and Buffalo, stopping at Turners, Otisville, Middletown, Port Jervis, Deposit, Hancock, Susquehanna, Binghamton, Owego, Ithaca, Watkins, Penn Yan, Dansville, Mt. Morris, Portageville, Olean, Salamanca, Dunkirk and Buffalo.
3:30 A. M.—Piermont Train, stopping at all stations.
Freight Trains run daily, Sundays excepted, as follows: 1 P. M. for Piermont and Intermediate stations; 3 P. M. for Dunkirk and Buffalo and Intermediate stations.
The Express trains run daily, Sundays excepted, as follows: 7:45 A. M. and 3:30 P. M. for Dunkirk and Buffalo and Intermediate stations.
The Accommodation train leaves Goshen daily, Sundays excepted, at 7:30 A. M.
The Piermont Train leaves Piermont at 9 A. M. and 4 P. M.
The Newburgh Train leaves Newburgh at 6 A. M.
Tickets for the Express Trains can be obtained at the Ticket Office, foot of Duane-st., and at the Depot, foot of Chambers-st., where also Baggage Checks may be obtained.
WM. J. CAMPBELL, Superintendent.

NEW-YORK AND HARLEM RAILROAD.—SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.—Trains will leave Depot, corner of 4th-av. and 42d-st., as follows:
7:45 A. M.—Express Mail Train for Albany, stopping at all stations north of Williams' Bridge.
10:10 A. M.—White Plains Train, stopping at all stations.
11 A. M.—Williams' Bridge Train, stopping at all stations.
11:30 A. M.—White Plains Train, stopping at all stations.
3:30 P. M.—Williams' Bridge Train, stopping at all stations.
4 P. M.—Somers Train, stopping at all stations.
5 P. M.—Croton Falls Train, stopping at all stations.
6 P. M.—Williams' Bridge Train, stopping at all stations.
8 P. M.—Williams' Bridge Train, stopping at all stations.
WM. J. CAMPBELL

CITY BANK STATEMENTS.

STATEMENT OF THE CONTINENTAL BANK OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, W. C. Hewson, President of the CONTINENTAL BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

W. C. HOOKER, President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
E. FRANCIS COBBY, Jr., Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE CORN EXCHANGE BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $1,[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... 115,[illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, F. A. PLANT, Cashier of the CORN EXCHANGE BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

F. A. PLANT, Cashier.

Sworn before me this 26th day of October, 1857.
ANDREW KOLLOCK, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE FULTON BANK, OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $1,[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, WILLIAM H. LAIN, Cashier of the FULTON BANK in the City of New-York, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, according to the best of my knowledge and belief.

W. H. LAIN, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
E. FRANCIS COBBY, Jr., Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE GREENWICH BANK, OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, WILLIAM HAYES, Cashier of the GREENWICH BANK, of the City of New-York, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

WILLIAM HAYES, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
SAL. HARRISON, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE GROCERS' BANK, OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, SAMUEL B. WHITE, Cashier of the GROCERS' BANK, in the City of New-York, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

SAMUEL B. WHITE, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
R. CHESTNUT, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE HANOVER BANK, NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $1,[illegible] 12
Average amount of Specie 78,676 76
Clearing House currency 104,500
Average amount of Circulation 77,576 00
Average amount of Deposits 434,638 00

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, WM. H. JOHNSON, President of the HANOVER BANK, New-York, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

WM. H. JOHNSON, President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
W. C. MONCRIEF, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE IMPORTERS' AND TRADERS' BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $1,[illegible]
Average amount of Specie 172,417 21
Average amount of Circulation 105,464 00
Average amount of Deposits 611,107 15

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, JAMES BULL, Cashier of the IMPORTERS AND TRADERS' BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

JAMES BULL, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JOHN L. TROTTER, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE IRVING BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... 77,[illegible] 35
Average amount of Circulation 71,972 00
Average amount of Deposits ..... 263,[illegible] 12

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, DANIEL V. H. BENTHOUSEN, Cashier of the IRVING BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct.

DANIEL V. H. BENTHOUSEN, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JOHN ENGELMAN, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE LEATHER MANUFACTURERS' BANK, OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $1,[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits 1,117,149 00

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, THOMAS B. ACLY, Cashier of the LEATHER MANUFACTURERS' BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

T. B. ACLY, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE MANHATTAN COMPANY OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—Of the average daily balance of the following Accounts, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $4,[illegible]
Average amount of Specie 436,580 00
Average amount of Circulation 391,825 00
Average amount of Deposits 2,303,546 00

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, JAMES M. FONTAINE, Cashier of the MANHATTAN COMPANY, IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

J. M. MORRISON, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
E. FRANCIS COBBY, Jr., Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE MARINE BANK, NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible] 64
Average amount of Specie ..... 31,[illegible] 55
Average amount of Circulation ..... 21,[illegible] 00
Average amount of Deposits 240,319 00

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, J. C. BEACH, Cashier of the MARINE BANK, NEW-YORK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

J. C. BEACH, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
E. FRANCIS COBBY, Jr., Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE MARKET BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $1,[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... 101,[illegible] 00
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, ROBT. E. HAYDOCK, Cashier of the MARKET BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

R. E. HAYDOCK, Cashier.

Affirmed before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
E. FRANCIS COBBY, Jr., Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE MECHANICS' BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation, including notes of the late Mechanics' Bank ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, GEORGE W. ALLIE, Cashier of the MECHANICS' BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

G. W. ALLIE, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE MECHANICS' AND TRADERS' BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, GEO. W. [illegible], Cashier of the MECHANICS' AND TRADERS' BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

GEO. W. [illegible], Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JOHN M. DAVOL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE MERCANTILE BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, R. H. ARNOLD, President of the MERCANTILE BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

R. H. ARNOLD, President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
E. FRANCIS COBBY, Jr., Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE METROPOLITAN BANK, OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, DANIEL V. SEYMOUR, Cashier of the METROPOLITAN BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, according to the best of my knowledge and belief.

D. V. SEYMOUR, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE BANK OF COMMERCE IN NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, HENRY V. ALLEN, Cashier of the BANK OF COMMERCE IN NEW-YORK, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

H. V. ALLEN, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE BANK OF THE COMMONWEALTH—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, GEORGE WILLIS, Cashier of the BANK OF THE COMMONWEALTH, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

GEORGE WILLIS, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE BANK OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, WM. H. MORRIS, President of the BANK OF NEW-YORK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

WM. H. MORRIS, President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE BANK OF NORTH AMERICA—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $1,[illegible] 90
Average amount of Specie ..... 115,[illegible] 53
Average amount of Circulation ..... 64,[illegible] 00
Average amount of Deposits ..... 912,[illegible] 53

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, ISAAC BEYMOUR, President of the BANK OF NORTH AMERICA, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

I. SEYMOUR, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE BANK OF THE STATE OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, GEORGE W. DUER, Cashier of the BANK OF THE STATE OF NEW-YORK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

G. W. DUER, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE BANK OF THE REPUBLIC, OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, ROBERT H. LOWRIE, President of the BANK OF THE REPUBLIC, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

R. H. LOWRIE, President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
A. C. GRAHAM, Notary Public.

STATEMENT OF THE BROADWAY BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, ROBERT B. ROOSEVELT, President of the BROADWAY BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

R. B. ROOSEVELT, President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE BUTCHERS' AND DROVERS' BANK, OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, ROBERT H. LOWRIE, President of the BUTCHERS' AND DROVERS' BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

R. H. LOWRIE, President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
A. C. GRAHAM, Notary Public.

STATEMENT OF THE CITY BANK, OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, ROBERT H. LOWRIE, President of the CITY BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

R. H. LOWRIE, President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE CHATHAM BANK, OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, GEORGE WILLIS, President of the CHATHAM BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

GEORGE WILLIS, President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE CHEMICAL BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, G. H. SCHERMERHORN, President of the CHEMICAL BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

G. H. SCHERMERHORN, President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
DANIEL SEGUIN, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE CITIZENS' BANK, OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, [illegible], President of the CITIZENS' BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

[illegible], President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
[illegible], Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE COMMERCE BANK, OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, ROBERT H. LOWRIE, President of the COMMERCE BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

R. H. LOWRIE, President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE BANK OF COMMERCE, OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, [illegible], President of the BANK OF COMMERCE, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

[illegible], President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
[illegible], Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE BANK OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, [illegible], President of the BANK OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

[illegible], President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
[illegible], Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE BANK OF NEW-YORK, NATIONAL BANKING ASSOCIATION—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, [illegible], President of the BANK OF NEW-YORK, NATIONAL BANKING ASSOCIATION, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

[illegible], President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
[illegible], Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE BANK OF THE METROPOLIS—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, [illegible], President of the BANK OF THE METROPOLIS, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

[illegible], President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
[illegible], Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE BANK OF NORTH AMERICA—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, [illegible], President of the BANK OF NORTH AMERICA, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

[illegible], President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
[illegible], Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE NASSAU BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, R. R. TOOKER, Cashier of the NASSAU BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

R. R. TOOKER, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October.
J. VAN NAMEE, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE NATIONAL BANK OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation, of the late National Bank ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, F. D. PARSONS, Cashier of the NATIONAL BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

F. D. PARSONS, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
E. FRANCIS COBBY, Jr., Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE NEW-YORK COUNTY BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, A. A. MARMADUKE, Jr., Cashier of the NEW-YORK COUNTY BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

A. A. MARMADUKE, Jr., Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
E. LAWRENCE, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE BANK OF THE NEW-YORK DRY DOCK COMPANY—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, T. T. HAYES, Cashier of the NEW-YORK DRY DOCK COMPANY, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct.

T. T. HAYES, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JOHN ANDERSON, Jr., Justice Fifth District Court.

STATEMENT OF THE NEW-YORK EXCHANGE BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, WM. H. LEARD, Cashier of the NEW-YORK EXCHANGE BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

WM. H. LEARD, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JOHN PHILLIPS, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE OCEAN BANK IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, PARKER HANDY, Cashier of the OCEAN BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of our knowledge and belief.

PARKER HANDY, Cashier.

Affirmed before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JOHN PHILLIPS, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE ORIENTAL BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, WASHINGTON A. HALL, Cashier of the ORIENTAL BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
WM. L. WOOD, Police Justice.

STATEMENT OF THE PACIFIC BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, ROBERT BUCK, Cashier of the PACIFIC BANK, being sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

ROBERT BUCK, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
WM. LEE, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE PARK BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, CHARLES A. MACY, Cashier of the PARK BANK, being duly affirmed, depose and say that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

CHARLES A. MACY, Cashier.

Affirmed before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
WM. M. WEEVER, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE PEOPLE'S BANK, NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, GODFREY W. LEARY, Cashier of the People's Bank, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

G. W. LEARY, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
EDWARD F. GERRY, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE PHENIX BANK, IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, JOHN PARKER, Cashier, per proxy of the PHENIX BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

JOHN PARKER, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
THOS. S. BOWNE, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE ST. NICHOLAS BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, ABRAM PARKHURST, Cashier of the ST. NICHOLAS BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the foregoing statement is true, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

A. PARKHURST, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JAS. HAMMOND, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE SEVENTH WARD BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, ALBERT S. FRASER, Cashier of the SEVENTH WARD BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

A. S. FRASER, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE SHOE AND LEATHER BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, W. H. KREMELBERG, Cashier of the SHOE AND LEATHER BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say, that the above statement is correct.

W. H. KREMELBERG, Cashier.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
SAMUEL F. BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE TRADESMEN'S BANK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, RICHARD LEFFERTS, Cashier of the TRADESMEN'S BANK, being duly affirmed, depose and say that the above statement is correct.

R. LEFFERTS, Cashier.

Affirmed before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
[illegible], Commissioner of Deeds.

STATEMENT OF THE UNION BANK, OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK—As required by Chapter 200, Laws of 1853, for the week ending Saturday, Oct. 24, 1857:

Average amount of Loans and Discounts ..... $[illegible]
Average amount of Specie ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Circulation ..... [illegible]
Average amount of Deposits ..... [illegible]

City and County of New-York, ss.—I, [illegible], President of the UNION BANK, being duly sworn, depose and say that the above statement is correct.

[illegible], President.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of October, 1857.
JULES BULL, Commissioner of Deeds.

IRON AND HARDWARE.

BECK [illegible]

FINANCIAL.

REMITTANCES TO ENGLAND, IRELAND, SCOTLAND AND WALES.

UNION BANK OF LONDON.
NATIONAL BANK OF SCOTLAND.
BELFAST BANKING COMPANY, IRELAND.
[illegible]

[illegible] TAYLOR & CONNELLY, BANKERS,
No. 11 WALL-ST., NEW-YORK.

NEW-ORLEANS AND BAY ST. LOUIS RAILROAD COMPANY.—OFFICE OF THE NEW-ORLEANS AND BAY ST. LOUIS RAILROAD COMPANY, [illegible]

[illegible]

Capital Stock ..... [illegible]
Funded Debt ..... [illegible]
Floating Debt ..... [illegible]
Interest on Bonds for 18 months [illegible]
Amount due [illegible]
Total liabilities ..... [illegible]
Cash and Cash Items ..... [illegible]
Receivable ..... [illegible]
Business and earnings ..... [illegible]
Iron on Lake Erie ..... [illegible]
Rolling Stock [illegible] ..... [illegible]
[illegible] to Co. R. R. [illegible] ..... [illegible]
Other Assets ..... [illegible]
Due by Agents ..... [illegible]
Advances for Land ..... [illegible]
Bonds in Sinking Fund ..... [illegible]
Total [illegible] ..... [illegible]

Liabilities [illegible]

[illegible] that the adjustment of the Erie Dock Company are [illegible] the Erie Railroad Company [illegible] the New-York and Erie Railroad Company have [illegible] the original [illegible] Dock Company [illegible] the Erie Railroad Company [illegible] will receive the heavy properties of the Erie Railroad [illegible] the Dock Company [illegible] will [illegible] and be [illegible] to any [illegible] to [illegible] will [illegible] the [illegible] will [illegible] the [illegible] will [illegible] the COMMERCIAL AFFAIRS.

[See Miscellaneous Commercial Pages.]

Sales at the Stock Exchange, Wednesday, Oct. 26.

$14,000 N.Y. State 6s, '52, int	93	200 Erie Railroad	9
2,000 N.Y. State 6s, '52, int	93	do	9 5/16
500 Ohio State 6s, '60	93	50 Sixth-av. Rail-road	37
4,000 Mich. State 6s	93	25 N. H. & Hart. R. R.	105
1,000 do. State 6s	93	25 La Crosse & Milw. R. R.	6
1,000 Ind. State 6s	75 3/4	100 Hudson R. R.	21
1,000 R. W. C. R. R. 6s	75	200 do	21 1/8
3,000 R. L. & M. R. 1st m.	93 1/2	10 M. Sq. & N. Ia. p. s.	11
2,000 Chicago R. bonds	87	100 Ill. Cen. R. R.	40 17/32
2,000 T. H. & A. M. W.	32	50 do	40 17/32
400 Ill. Cen. R. Bds.	87	200 Clev. & P. R. R. s.b.c.	43
4,000 do	87 1/2	50 Cin. S. & Cle. R. R.	24 1/2
4,000 do	87 1/2	50 do	24 1/2
4,000 do	87 1/2	10 do	24
100 New-York Cen. R. R.	49 1/2	25 C. & Tol. R. R.	32
200 do	49	16 Cin. S. & Cle. R. R.	29
200 do	49	10 New-Jersey R. R.	97
100 do	49	11 do	96
100 do	49 1/2	50 Del. & Hud. Can. Co.	92

SECOND BOARD.

$500 Virginia 6s	71	100 N. Y. Cen. R. R.	49 3/4
2,000 do	71	50 do	49 62
2,000 Mich. State 6s	93	100 do	49 3/4
3,000 Ohio State 6s	93 1/2	200 do	49
4,000 N. Y. State 6s, '60	93	100 do	49
4,000 Tenn. State 6s	75	100 do	49
7,000 Missouri State 6s	63 1/2	100 do	49 1/2
8,000 do	63 1/2	100 Reading R. R.	43 1/2
1,000 Erie R. R. (O. Pa. w.)	93	100 do	43
25 Hudson R. R.	21	100 Erie Railroad	9 1/8
100 Cumb. Coal Co.	3 1/2	10 Mich. S. & N. I. p.s.b.c.	93
10 do	3	40 do	93 1/4
100 Clev. & Tol. R. R.	32 1/2	50 do	93
7 Chic. & R. I. R. R.	62	40 Mich. S. & N. I. R. R.	3 1/4
10 La Crosse & Mil. R. R.	6	10 Del. & Hud. Can. Co.	92

MERCANTILE SALES.

After the adjournment of the Board the following sales of Stocks and Bonds were made at auction by S. Drayer:

$10,000 Ill. and Horicon R. R. Co.	Int. added 25
24,000 Lake E., Wabash and St. L. R. R.	Int. added 25
64,000 Missouri 6s	Int. added 62 1/2
25 shares Phenix Fire Ins. Co.	102
10 shares Artisans' Bank	49
20 shares Ascot Fire Ins. Co.	34
15 shares Atlantic Fire Ins. Co.	20
20 shares Long Island Ins. Co.	103 1/2

After the adjournment of the Board, Monday, the following sales of Stocks and Bonds were made at auction by S. Drayer:

$2,000 Missouri 6s	Int. added 64 1/2
$2,000 Tennessee 6s	Int. added 57
40 shares Seventh Ward Bank	88 1/2 @ 89
10 shares Shoe and Leather Bank	78
20 shares Bank of North America	70 1/2
10 shares Bank of the State of New-York	71 3/4 @ 71 7/8
10 shares American Exchange Bank	74
50 shares Importers' and Traders' Bank	71 1/2

Mercantile Sales.

After the adjournment of the Board, Tuesday, the following sales of Stocks and Bonds were made at auction by S. Drayer:

$2,000 Missouri 6s	Int. added 64 1/2
10 shares Phenix Fire Ins. Co.	102
10 shares Artisans' Bank	49
20 shares Ascot Fire Ins. Co.	34
15 shares Atlantic Fire Ins. Co.	20
20 shares Long Island Ins. Co.	103 1/2

After the adjournment of the Board, Tuesday, the following sales of Stocks and Bonds were made at auction by S. Drayer:

$2,000 Missouri 6s	Int. added 64 1/2
10 shares Seventh Ward Bank	88 1/2 @ 89
10 shares Shoe and Leather Bank	78
20 shares Bank of North America	70 1/2
10 shares Bank of the State of New-York	71 3/4 @ 71 7/8
10 shares American Exchange Bank	74
50 shares Importers' and Traders' Bank	71 1/2

Mercantile Sales.

After the adjournment of the Board, Wednesday, the following sales of Stocks and Bonds were made at auction by S. Drayer:

$2,000 Missouri 6s	Int. added 64 1/2
10 shares Seventh Ward Bank	88 1/2 @ 89
10 shares Shoe and Leather Bank	78
20 shares Bank of North America	70 1/2
10 shares Bank of the State of New-York	71 3/4 @ 71 7/8
10 shares American Exchange Bank	74
50 shares Importers' and Traders' Bank	71 1/2

Mercantile Sales.

After the adjournment of the Board, Thursday, the following sales of Stocks and Bonds were made at auction by S. Drayer:

$2,000 Missouri 6s	Int. added 64 1/2
10 shares Seventh Ward Bank	88 1/2 @ 89
10 shares Shoe and Leather Bank	78
20 shares Bank of North America	70 1/2
10 shares Bank of the State of New-York	71 3/4 @ 71 7/8
10 shares American Exchange Bank	74
50 shares Importers' and Traders' Bank	71 1/2

Mercantile Sales.

After the adjournment of the Board, Friday, the following sales of Stocks and Bonds were made at auction by S. Drayer:

$2,000 Missouri 6s	Int. added 64 1/2
10 shares Seventh Ward Bank	88 1/2 @ 89
10 shares Shoe and Leather Bank	78
20 shares Bank of North America	70 1/2
10 shares Bank of the State of New-York	71 3/4 @ 71 7/8
10 shares American Exchange Bank	74
50 shares Importers' and Traders' Bank	71 1/2

Mercantile Sales.

After the adjournment of the Board, Saturday, the following sales of Stocks and Bonds were made at auction by S. Drayer:

$2,000 Missouri 6s	Int. added 64 1/2
10 shares Seventh Ward Bank	88 1/2 @ 89
10 shares Shoe and Leather Bank	78
20 shares Bank of North America	70 1/2
10 shares Bank of the State of New-York	71 3/4 @ 71 7/8
10 shares American Exchange Bank	74
50 shares Importers' and Traders' Bank	71 1/2

Mercantile Sales.

After the adjournment of the Board, Monday, the following sales of Stocks and Bonds were made at auction by S. Drayer:

$2,000 Missouri 6s	Int. added 64 1/2
10 shares Seventh Ward Bank	88 1/2 @ 89
10 shares Shoe and Leather Bank	78
20 shares Bank of North America	70 1/2
10 shares Bank of the State of New-York	71 3/4 @ 71 7/8
10 shares American Exchange Bank	74
50 shares Importers' and Traders' Bank	71 1/2

Mercantile Sales.